PORTLAND, OREGON: MONDAY, MAY 29, 1882.

PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

Guiteau to be Hanged by a Professional Executioner.

KATE CHASE SPRAGUE DIVORCED.

George Conley, the Celebrated Basso, Drowned with a Comrade in a New England Lake—Cameron and the Stalwarts.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

New York, May 27.—The Tribune says: James Van Heise of New York has been asked by Guiteau's friends in Washington to superintend the hanging of Guiteau, and $250 has been offered him for his services. Van Heise has written that if he undertakes the work he will require that a gallows similar to that used by him in New Jersey shall be used, and that he be allowed one assistant. He also asks that the amount of compensation be increased. Van Heise has conducted thirteen hangings in New Jersey, and he is an expert hangman and is credited with a single blunder. The gallows used by him has been improved by him and it is now in jail at Newark.

Arrival of Danenhower's Party.

New York, May 28.—The Star says: At a late hour last night the steamer Celtic was sighted off Sandy Hook, and distinguished party went down on the steamboat Birkbeck, to receive Lieut. Danenhower and survivors of the ill-fated Jeannette expedition from the Arctic regions. Among the people on the Birkbeck, were Chief Justice Daly, Mrs. DeLong, widow of the commander of the Jeannette, and Gen. Grant. By special permit obtained by James Gordon Bennett, Lieut. Danenhower was taken from the steamer to the Birkbeck and brought to this city, where quarters had been engaged for him at Hotel Windsor. The meeting between Lieut. Danenhower and Mrs. DeLong was very affecting. It was the first opportunity that that lady had had of communicating directly with one of her husband's associates in his perilous and fatal enterprise. Mrs. DeLong was almost overcome by her emotion. As soon as the lieutenant came on board the Birkbeck, he was shown into the ladies' saloon, which was occupied by Mrs. DeLong and Mr. and Mrs. Washington Danenhower, parents of the rescued officer. What transpired in that interview, was of course not inquired into by the large number of newspaper representatives on board, but it was noticed Lieut. Danenhower emerged from the cabin with eyes reddened from the emotions that he must have experienced. The rest of the trip to the city was occupied with welcomes and congratulations between the lieutenant and guests. Next Tuesday evening a public reception is to be tendered to Lieut. Danenhower, at the rooms of the American Geographical Society, and on the following evening he will be the chief guest at a banquet at Delmonico's.

The President's Policy.

New York, May 28.—The Times says of recent appointments: If the president imagines that, to stand well with the country, it is necessary to appear as author of "my policy," or champion of "my party," we think he has made a grievous blunder. If his policy is to consist in turning one set of men out of office and putting another in, merely to satisfy demands of his personal adherence; if his party is to consist solely of Arthur as distinguished from those who are only republicans, then he will show that blunder of his predecessors who reached the chief magistracy by the vice-presidential succession have yielded him neither instruction nor warning.

A Fishy Story.

Philadelphia, May 27.—When the steamship British King arrived in port last Monday, the statement was made that an English passenger, evidently demented, had jumped overboard on the fourth day of the voyage and was lost. Patrick Foy, of County Sligo, Ireland, who was also one of the steerage passengers, reported to the British consul this afternoon, that he heard the man exclaim as he leaped into the sea, "I'm the man who killed Lord Cavendish." Foy is positive his statement is the suicide's words, and says he was standing close to him when he uttered them.

Cameron's Council of War.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Senator Cameron had a conference to-day with a number of business men with reference to supporting the ticket. It has been decided that the regular republican convention will be reconvened within the next fifteen days and be composed of the same delegates who formed the first convention, and the vacancy occasioned by the declination of Marshall will then be filled. The senator stated to his visitors that his purpose in inviting them in conference was to lay before them the real situation of affairs, and on which depended the life of the party. The success of the ticket, he told them, rested with the great agricultural, mining and commercial interests of the state. He had fought for a protective tariff in the senate, as his father had done in other days, but those who had heretofore supported the republican ticket wanted to club him. He was ready to receive the blow, and he would oppose the tariff in the senate as heartily as he had upheld it. If you want to kill the party we will all go to destruction together.

The Stalwarts Stand Firm.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Senator Cameron has been receiving political callers at his hotel all day and talking over the political situation. The senator declared there should be no compromise or fusion with independents, but that regular republicans should exert all their strength against the ticket nominated Wednesday last, as well as the democratic ticket. The question whether the vacancy on the ticket, caused by Marshall's declination of the nomination of congressman at large, shall be filled by the state committee or by another convention, is not decided.

The Oregon Trans-Continental Plans.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Henry Villard, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co., was tendered a reception at the Union League house last evening, by J. B. Wright, former president of that corporation. Villard made an address, in which he set forth the plans and purposes of the Oregon Trans-Continental Co. The organization was intended mainly to control tributary local lines through the territory traversed by the Northern Pacific, and those purposes, Villard said, were to be explained in full in a circular to be issued to stockholders early next week.

Disastrous Explosion.

Philadelphia, May 27.—During a coal oil fire in the cellar grocery of John M. New, 3420 Ridge avenue, Falls of the Schuylkill, an explosion occurred, shattering the building and injuring a number of firemen and many persons watching the progress of the fire. The seriously burned are Daniel Shyrak, fireman; Howard Schuster, Patrick Tiegal, John McNeal, John Englehart, Peter Rice, John Kelly, Henry Kane and Henry Fellows. About twenty others were slightly injured. Loss of property about $10,000.

Fast Mail Service.

Chicago, May 27.—W. B. Thompson, superintendent of railway mail service, had a conference to-day with Postmaster General Howe. He has been conferring with trunk lines in regard to making the run from New York to Chicago in twenty-five hours. He had no answer from the Pennsylvania road, but the New York Central and Lake Shore are willing to make terms with the government to reach Chicago at 9:35 the next morning. This would increase the speed from 36 to 39 miles an hour. There will be another conference Monday regarding the extension of the postal service.

Commercial Banquet.

The banquet of the Commercial club given to-night in honor of commercial bodies of Cincinnati and St. Louis, was an imposing affair. One hundred and sixty-seven covers were laid, and $140,000,000 of capital represented. Among the guests were Postmaster General T. O. Howe and Lieutenant General P. H. Sheridan. A speech was made by Howe, who said that before the next fiscal year began the time between New York and San Francisco would be 24 hours shorter than now. Gen. Sheridan surprised the company by making an excellent speech of some length. The banquet concluded at a late hour, and guests depart to-morrow for their homes.

Railroad Matters.

New York, May 27.—Railway officials in New York report the committee of general passenger agents in session there. They will recommend abolition of the system of through trains to the west, forcing passengers to transfer from sleepers to day cars. This is said to be the result of a change by the Erie road, that through lines charge higher rates than at present and the author of the scheme is said to be Jewett, general manager of the Lake Shore road.

Distillers in Convention.

Chicago, May 27.—The leading distillers of the country are in session at the Grand Pacific, trying to agree upon a scheme for reviving the western export association to fix a remunerative price for high wines, and prevent disastrous cutting of rates. A committee appointed for the purpose, made a report yesterday, which was discussed at length, and pending a vote upon its adoption, the meeting adjourned for dinner.

A Result of the Strike.

St. Louis, May 27.—It is asserted the rolling mills will close next week, if workmen still insist on the advance of wages. They are in a condition to stop and if they do so six hundred hands will be out of employment, and it is likely five other mills, employing about 2300 men, with a pay roll of $140,000 per month, will also shut down.

The Entire Family Caught.

Denver, May 27.—U. S. Marshall Smith and Deputy Marshal Erskine of Fayetteville, Arkansas, yesterday arrested the third and last member of the Fuller family, charged with robbery of mails at Gunter, Arkansas, while in charge of the post office. The elder Fuller was arrested at Pueblo, Mrs. Fuller in Denver and young Fuller in Boulder.

Divorce of the Spragues.

Providence, May 27.—In the supreme court of Washington county to-day, a decree was entered divorcing Katherine Chase Sprague from Wm. Sprague, giving Mrs. Sprague the custody of her three daughters and permitting her to resume her maiden name, with leave hereafter to apply for alimony, if she chose.

Star Route Witnesses.

San Antonio, Texas, May 27.—Amos Foster, general agent for Texas, is escorting to Washington a former mail contractor named Jerry Files, who will testify in the star route cases. Postmaster Manning of San Antonio and contractor Lyon are also on their way to the capital.

Distinguished Travelers.

New Orleans, May 27.—Señor Cardenas and other prominent citizens of Nicaragua, including the family of President Zavaliard, have left by the Jackson for New York via Chicago and Niagara Falls. They were tendered the hospitalities of the city and entertained last evening by the acting mayor.

Sent for Safe Keeping.

Eastland, Tex., May 28.—Bill M. Donald and Jas. Martin of the Texas and Pacific train robbers, captured and brought here a few days ago, have been sent to Weatherford for safe keeping, authorities here being afraid an attempt at rescue would be made by members of the gang.

Forest Fires in Michigan.

Chicago, May 28.—East Tawas, Mich., special: Heavy forest fires are raging between Greenbush and Black river to Alcona and unless rain comes speedily there will be great damage to the pineries.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Chicago, May 27.—At Highwood, a northern suburb, yesterday the house of a man named McCarthy was discovered to have been burned, and his body found in the ashes. Indications point to murder, the object is supposed to be money he received recently from stock sales. Nobody knew of the affair until daylight, when the smoking ruins attracted attention and the charred remains were found. A posse of citizens is scouring the country around and every effort is being made to overtake the murderers.

Wilmington, Del., May 27.—James Redden, colored, convicted of criminally assaulting a young white girl, was sentenced to be hanged August 25. Redden admits his guilt.

Kansas City, May 28.—Gus Miller and Matthew Jones were arrested charged with exciting the mob of 100 which on April 30 hung Levi Harrington, a colored man. Sufficient evidence is believed to have been obtained to convict Miller and Jones.

Lebanon, Mo., May 27.—A bloody tragedy has occurred near Bennett's Mill. Bad feeling existed between George and William Matthews and some of their neighbors. Yesterday a disturbance occurred between George Matthews and James Ford, the Matthews boys being intoxicated. The boys then started homeward in company with Marian Wilson and Homer Sharp. They had gone a considerable distance when they were fired into by some parties in ambush and both of the Matthews boys instantly killed and Wilson and Sharp both wounded, the former seriously. The Matthews boys were aged 20 and 18. The wounded are still younger.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco Notes.

San Francisco, May 27.—The Bulletin has the following: Edward Schieffelin, a well known Arizona prospector and frontiersman, has organized a party of five experienced men, himself included, to make a thorough prospecting tour of the valley of the Yukon river in Alaska. The party have ample means and a small, light draft stern-wheel steamer has been built for river navigation and will be taken on deck of the schooner chartered for the purpose. The expedition will leave in a few days. Schieffelin believes Alaska is within the mineral belt which extends through South America, Mexico, United States and British Columbia, as far north as prospectors have explored, and leaving Alaska unexplored is disclosed again in Siberia. The party are expected to be absent three years.

San Francisco, May 27.—It has been decided by the committee in charge to defer selection of a site for a veterans home building until advices are received from Washington. Congress has refused to pass bills establishing either a separate home or branch home for veterans on this coast. A letter was received in this city last week from General Rosecrans saying that were the restrictions of congress withdrawn the veterans home association at Washington would consider the advisability of assisting financially the veterans home organization of this coast. On receipt of the letter it was decided to suspend selection of the site, as stated, and await act on of congress and of authorities of the national home. Their action will not affect the location of the building within the limits of this state.

San Francisco, May 27.—Bulwer declares a dividend of ten cents, and Scorpion levies an assessment of ten cents.

Mining Suit Settled.

San Francisco, May 28.—The suit between Tranquility and Head Centre, which has created much excitement in mining circles, has been decided in favor of the plaintiff. Suit was brought last December and a temporary injunction granted restraining Head Center from working over the side line of Tranquility. Settlement of this case ends all litigation as to the rights of different claims on Contention hill.

Suicides.

Sacramento, May 27.—C. W. Repp, wholesale and retail grocer, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself. Heart disease and financial embarrassment contributed to the suicidal impulse.

Los Angeles, May 27.—Thomas Gray, an old resident, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself through the head. The act was caused by financial difficulties.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Accidents at Olympia.

Olympia, May 28.—The steamship G. W. Elder arrived here yesterday with 30 passengers, and discharged about a hundred tons of freight at the lower wharf which was taken to town in a scow belonging to the west-side wharf company. Part of the freight was discharged last night but unfortunately work was stopped at seven P. M., and was not resumed till this A. M. In the meantime the tide ebbed letting the scow settle down on the flats, and as it began to come in again the scow failed to rise and before anything could be done the water commenced pouring in on the goods causing hundreds and, perhaps, thousands of dollars damages. The large cargo of tinware, brought up by F. A. Hoffman for Tarte and Holmes, who were recently burned out, was badly damaged and a piano, consigned to Mrs. Eagley, but the order for which had been countermanded after the fire and previous to its shipment from San Francisco, was completely ruined. Nearly every storekeeper lost some goods, but the amount of damage done can hardly be estimated before Monday. Thus Olympia has been sorely tried by both fire and water inside of ten days.

A fire took place last night at Tumwater, which destroyed Esterly's drying house and it was with difficulty the sash and door factory could be saved.

A special election will be held in this city, June 5th, to vote upon the question of levying a special tax for fire purposes. Preparations are being made to rebuild most of the burnt district with brick.

Generosity of an Actress.

Seattle, May 27.—A virulent type of smallpox made its appearance last night upon S. Phillen, a member of the Nellie Boyd Dramatic Company, now playing in this city, but recently from San Francisco. He was immediately placed in the pest house for care and keeping. Phillen had no money and no friends outside of the troupe, and had it not been for Nellie Boyd would have been a charge upon the community. That lady at once gave $75, with the promise of paying out of her own pocket at least one-half the whole amount of the expenses of his sickness.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Deadlock in Congress as a Topic of Conversation.

A LETTER FROM ROSECRANS.

The Star Route Cases Again Under Headway—Political Points from Political Headquarters.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Washington, May 27.—The first overtures for a settlement of the deadlock in the contested election case of Mackey vs. Dibble were made in the house to-day. The democrats proposed the appointment of a committee to go to South Carolina to investigate the charges preferred by Dibble that Mackey has garbled, perverted and fraudulently tampered with the evidence of witnesses. The republicans indignantly rejected the proposition, feeling that investigation of the charges by the election commission was all that was sufficient. Afterward a caucus of republicans was held at which the sentiment in favor of continuing the fight until the democrats yield was unanimous, and a strong feeling in favor of amending the rules to prevent further filibustering on the part of democrats was manifested. The caucus adopted a resolution to consent to six hours debate on the merits of a pending issue, at the end of which time a vote will be allowed on motion to recommit report to the elections committee. Of course such a motion will be lost and democrats can then resume filibustering. Republican leaders say they are only anxious to lay all the facts in the case before the country to judge which party is right. There was a conference of republican members of the committee on rules from 10 o'clock Thursday night to 1 o'clock Friday morning, at which the propriety of amending the rules to prevent democrats filibustering, was discussed. What conclusion was reached is not known, but the draft of a proposed amendment to the rules was seen on the speaker's desk today, providing that pending a motion of consideration on any question of legislation involving a matter of high privilege, the speaker may entertain one motion to adjourn, and no other motion calculated to delay action shall be entertained prior to disposition of the pending question. Some of the republicans doubt the expediency of attempting to arbitrarily amend the rules, and should it be attempted, there would be a bitter fight. No settlement of the contest is looked for before the middle of next week.

The Deadlock Discussed.

Washington, May 27.—Republican leaders declare that the deadlock in the house will be brought to an end next week. The fiscal year will expire on the 30th of June, and by that time appropriations for support of the government must be made. Sundry civil, legislative, elective and judicial and navy appropriation bills have not yet been reported from the committee, and three and half a dozen other bills are pending between the two houses. Never, in recent congresses, have bills now remaining unacted upon, been disposed of within 30 days and, republicans see the necessity for securing prompt action on pending business. Next week coercive measures will be adopted and an amendment to the rules to prevent filibustering will be adopted, in defiance of the wishes of the minority to interpose dilatory motions, against the proposition to amend the rules. Democratic leaders say if an attempt is made to refuse the rights to offer motions to adjourn and the speaker rules that democrats have no right of appeal from his decision, a resolution will be introduced to impeach Speaker Keifer. They say he cannot refuse to receive a motion for his own impeachment, and on this motion they will filibuster to the end of time. The feeling between the two parties is daily growing more intense. Lively times are anticipated in the house next week. Some apprehension is felt lest the republican quorum should be broken and it is not thought there will be a quorum of republicans present after decoration day.

General Rosecrans' Manifesto.

The following manifesto has been furnished by Gen. Rosecrans with a request for its publication by the California press:

WASHINGTON, May 27.

To my constituents: I speak with unreserved frankness. Public interests of great moment, local and national, induced me to sacrifice personal feeling and place my name at your disposal and lead a forlorn hope. In this it was successful. Interests of still greater magnitude make it my duty to ask you in return, to disregard personal and local preferences for the commonwealth. Without much aid from the Associated Press or the newspapers it will not be difficult for you to conclude that my brief service as your representative has been honest and faithful, and that my influence and standing with both parties in the house, it is safe to say that your present representative is at least as high as any of his predecessors. On the question of Chinese immigration the delegation from our coast all worked nobly, but I think it within truth to say that I did more than all of them to secure that solid democratic vote in the house, which beat down all mutilation of amendments and passed both bills. The press did not give you this news, but I refuse to say you will allow stabbers of reputations by a suggestion of what is false and suppressing what is true, to prevent you from doing me justice. This requires that it should be publicly expressed by my renomination to congress. I make this frank appeal because I am not a politician and am absent from you, and learn that combinations are at work which may tie you hand and foot. I appeal to the democracy and the labor element with confidence and trust that the pursuit of personal interests will not prevent their leaders from showing how to subordinate private interests to those of the whole country, and that they will so act as to command the approval of their brethren throughout the union.

W. S. ROSECRANS.

Blasphemous Guiteau.

Guiteau thus writes to the Star: "I tell the American people and its officials, from the executive down to the court in banc, who are reviewing my case, that I tell the truth and lie not when I say I am God's man in the matter of President Garfield's removal, and if a hair of my head is harmed the Almighty will make the officials that do it pay well for it. If I was outside I would lecture under the auspices of some bureau on religious subjects. One of my subjects would be, 'Paul, the Apostle, and Kindred Topics.' If my time has come to leave this world I am willing, but I want the officials that murder me on the gallows to understand the issue. If they murder me they will incur the wrath of Almighty God, and it will be a long time before He lets up on them and this nation. The devils that crucified the despised Galilean thought they were doing God's service, but that did not release them from liability. They and their nation incurred the wrath of the Almighty by that act, and He got even with them at the destruction of Jerusalem, and He will get even with the nation and with the officials if I am murdered on the gallows. I want an unconditional pardon or nothing, and I want the executive to so understand it. I have set forth my views fully on this in my book, 'The Truth and the Removal.' If the honorable jurists representing the Washington court in banc decide the case according to the law there is only one decision they can make, and that is that they have no jurisdiction. If they decide contrary to the law the matter will rest with President Arthur, and they will have incurred the wrath of Almighty God."

Star Route Cases.

Washington, May 27.—Star route trials began this morning. Before entering pleas defendants counsel proceeded to offer a number of motions, most of them motions to quash, based on alleged errors in indictments apparent on the face. Ingersoll took up each motion in succession, making long and exhaustive arguments.

McSweeny for defense spoke three hours and was answered by Bliss. At close of argument Judge Wylie said the points presented nothing different from those already disposed of in former cases. He held that the conspiracy, its objects, and part of the overt acts were set out as specially as was needful and but for the ingenuity of counsel he could not suppose there would be anything wrong with an indictment like this. Some of the 55 overt acts claimed might be objectional, but one was enough under the law. His examination had revealed only one defective overt act. Carpenter noted an objection to this ruling. This disposed of the motion of the Dorsey case, and Wilson called up his motion in Turner's behalf, but before he fairly entered on argument, court adjourned.

Merrick replied to the argument of Ingersoll, quoting extensively from authorities. Court suggested that as Ingersoll had charged there was no one overt act sufficiently set out in the indictment, it would tend more to overthrow his argument if the prosecution would point out any such act. Merrick replied the acts set out were exactly the same as had been judged sufficient by the court in former cases. He would reply to the argument, however, by citing full authorities at present, and when he had an opportunity to more fully examine Ingersoll's points, he would, if he thought best, make further reply hereafter. Judge Wylie gave his views upon the meaning of conspiracy, and that he was of opinion it was before that the conspiracy was sufficiently set out. Taking up the question of presentation of overt act he said it was only necessary to set out one overt act, and he thought in a general way defense was clearly in error in claiming that an act should be set out in entirety in charging part of the indictment. It was only necessary to set it out as one of the overt acts, incident to the conspiracy and not as forming part of the objects of the conspiracy.

A Struggle Prospective.

Washington, May 27.—Republican members of the house are satisfied of the impracticability of continuing the present struggle without first securing an amendment to the rules which will prevent a dilatory motion and a new line of action has therefore been agreed upon for next week. On Monday, immediately after reading the journal Reed will call up an amendment to a measure reported by him from the committee on rules, which, if adopted, will virtually prevent the putting of a dilatory motion pending consideration of a question of privilege. [illegible] the democrats [illegible] Reed will raise a point of order [illegible] and can't [illegible] the rules [illegible] point of order [illegible] Randall will [illegible] the speaker [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the proposition [illegible].

The Mackey-Dibble Squabble.

[illegible] Blackburn was read, and Calkins requested an opportunity to submit a counter proposition, remarking that as chairman of the committee on elections he could not accept the proposition of the minority, as it was a reflection upon the report of the committee.

A Startling Disclosure.

[illegible], May 27.—[illegible] Secretary Folger in [illegible] treasury investigation [illegible] hours [illegible] startling incident [illegible] the bureau of engraving and printing. Coming right upon the heels of charges that certain employes of that bureau had been in collusion with counterfeiters, the incident in itself is very interesting. Secretary Folger has had [illegible] that such collusion existed, the [illegible] was [illegible] such collusion [illegible] at the present time. The secretary has been conducting a personal investigation, in course of which he has found evidence of a startling character, explaining in a great degree the success of the Brockway, Smythe & Doyle gang of spurious money makers. Last Thursday night Prof. Casilear was nearly the last one to leave the engraver's room. In going out his practiced eye got sight of what appeared to him to be a relic of the government. At this time the great safe had been closed, and every plate issued that day had been receipted for and charged up as returned to the safe. Mr. Casilear saw that what looked to be a relic of the government had over it a piece of paper, as if it had been dropped there carelessly. He walked up, quickly and lifting up the piece of paper, found two of the government dies representing the transfer of the national bank bills, surrounded by geometric lathe work, the most difficult of all things for a counterfeiter to reproduce by hand. He was very much startled. Remembering all that had been charged against management of the bureau of engraving and printing the fact of the discovery of the two dies outside the safe was enough in itself, unexplained, to warrant much that had been said. He picked up the two dies and went at once to Col. Irish, chief of the engraving and printing bureau, and placed them in his hands with an explanation of where they were found. Col. Irish at once went to the secretary of the treasury and placed them in his hands giving him the history of their discovery. The secretary at once took steps to learn how this could have happened. It was apparent that had not Prof. Casilear's attention been directed to these plates they would have been within reach of any of the watchmen, to have been picked up during the night and to have been returned again during the day, so the transfer could easily have been made. Secretary Folger next morning made a requisition in writing upon Mr. Bell, custodian, for the two missing dies. Examination of receipts showed that they had all been delivered to Mr. Bell and accounted for as having been placed in the safe. If the two dies could be left out in this way through Mr. Bell's lack of attention the whole system appears to be very weak. Mr. Bell endeavored in every way to find the missing dies, but during the latter part of the day he gave it up and tried to have his safes closed again as they had been the night before, without them. Col. Irish refused to allow him to close the safes. He came into the room just as Bell was about closing them and warned the custodian that the safes should not be closed until the secretary gave orders. From this on the secretary of the treasury took charge and it was not until 6:30 o'clock last night the great safes were closed. Meanwhile the combination of the safes had been called for by the secretary and by him changed so the safes when closed last night were closed on a combination known only to the secretary. This morning he sent an officer to open the safes and called further on Mr. Bell for the missing dies. Mr. Bell could give no information and finally he came in to Col. Irish and said he would have to make a requisition upon him for them. Col. Irish told him that he did not have them in his possession and had no information to give him on the subject. The secretary investigated the case very thoroughly, and informed a correspondent late this afternoon that he had arrived at the conclusion that the leaving of the dies out was a bit of carelessness, and was not through any criminal intent on the part of Bell. About half-past three Mr. Bell was informed the dies were in possession of the secretary of the treasury. He was at the same time handed a letter from the secretary dismissing him.

Washington Notes.

Bayard reported from the finance committee a modification of the measure recommended by him as a substitute for the house bonded spirits bill. He said, the amended bill now reported contained modifications which have been compared in conjunction with the treasury department relating to bonds to be given for an extended warehousing period, and providing warehousing regulations as to spirits made from grapes, apples and peaches. Ordered printed as a substitute for house bill on the subject. Bayard will probably call it up early next week.

Acting Postmaster-General Hatton has issued an order directing general observance of Decoration Day by closing all postoffices except in large cities, Postmasters may exercise their judgment fixing hours.

Mr. Richardson from house committee on territories has reported a bill with a full and favorable request that it pass, providing a civil government for Alaska. The report places the government of the proposed territory in the hands of a district attorney, district judge, clerk, board of commissioners and a marshal, who shall also be customs collector, etc. The duties of the officers are very laborious and varied, and salaries are low, so that the move toward civil government cannot in any way be classed as the work of politicians.

Circulars from the national republican congressional committee were received by employes of the capital to-day in which each employe is informed he will be expected to contribute 1 per cent. of his annual salary towards a campaign fund to be used next fall.

The secretary of treasury, this afternoon, issued a call for $15,000,000 of continued sixes, series of March 31, 1863, which mature August 1st, or thereabout. About $47,000,000 in bonds of this issue are outstanding, and after this amount is exhausted calls will be issued for continued bonds.

The state department has completed its investigation into the conduct of J. J. Flynn, appointed consul at Chemnitz, Germany, and finds his deportment since the first two or three days after his arrival has been entirely exemplary, and Secretary of State Frelinghuysen has cabled the consul general at Berlin to demand the recognition of Flynn as consul at Chemnitz, and ordered Flynn to take charge of that office.

The president has not yet signed the Geneva award bill, and it is feared by war premium men he may veto it, an earnest remonstrance have been received from New York in the interest of insurance companies. Conkling favors a veto.

Kelly, chairman of the ways and means committee, says there has been no conference concerning the tariff.

Work on the Oregon Short Line.

The Salt Lake Tribune of a recent date has this to say of the new road's progress:

Starting at Granger, the track is already laid westward a distance of 51 miles. Track laying has commenced in earnest from that point, and is going down at the rate of about one mile per day. In track laying they use Moore's improved track laying apparatus, which consists simply of a trough or sided track in which are many rollers, over which ties and rails are sent to the front. This is attached to one side of the flat cars, so that ties and rails can be placed on the rollers, and then shoved along rapidly by men either on the flat cars or walking by the side on the ground. At the front end of the train, this track or chute extends forward quite a distance, being supported by a crane. As fast as the ties are sent to the front they are taken by men and put in place; then the rails are dropped and spiked, and the train pushes over the rails just laid, so as to be ready for the next length. The engine is at the opposite end of the train, and pushes the car back as fast as the rails are laid, until the 20 or 30 cars are unloaded. This machinery saves hauling the ties ahead by teams, and is economical in work, especially as there are many places along the road where teams could not reach the line of grade.

From Granger it is one hundred and forty-nine miles to Soda Springs, upon which the grade has been completed, eighty-two miles of track laid and many of the bridges put in place. From Soda Springs to Portneuf, where the line crosses the Utah & Northern, it is sixty-six miles, making a total of two hundred and fifteen miles from Granger. On this gap between Soda Springs and Pocatello graders are now at work, and already a portion is completed. West of the Utah & Northern the track is laid sixteen miles, and in about three weeks will be completed to American Falls, six miles further. The track west of the Utah & Northern is laid with broad gauge ties and rails placed to accommodate narrow gauge rolling stock, and when the line is completed from Granger to Pocatello, the track westward will be widened to standard gauge.

West of Snake river graders are strung out for a distance of fifty miles, and between seven hundred and eight hundred teams are at work. This portion of the road is over the desert, there being a stretch of eighty miles between American falls and Little Wood river having no water, and hence men and teams have to be supplied by hauling water from these rivers. At present the contractors, Messrs. Collins & Stevens, have about 2000 teams and 3000 men employed, and are anxious to get all the men and teams they can for pushing their work. Several large outfits are now on the way from Colorado and Nebraska, but they prefer getting laborers here so as to save transportation. Orders have been issued by the management to push the grading through to Baker City as rapidly as possible, and this will be done. The engineers are locating the line, keeping all the time far ahead of the graders, and there is now an energy shown by the company unsurpassed by any former period. Ties, rails, bolts, spikes, etc., are in store ample for all present uses, while orders cover all the material required, to be delivered as fast as wanted. The road is being built with steel rails and first-class in every respect.

A man may be excused for being a hunchback when he has the rheumatism, but he cannot be excused for prolonging his misery by neglecting to use the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. Richard Webb, a section hand in the Durfee Mills, Fall River, Mass., used the St. Jacobs Oil with the very happiest results, and can't say too much for the Great Remedy. He had rheumatism and said the oil cured him when nothing else would touch his case. Mr. Welsh also says that one of the mill hands who was a [illegible] the [illegible] Remedy [illegible] month.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Crisis in Egyptian Affairs Growing Alarming.

WAR EXPECTED IMMEDIATELY.

The Khedive Deserted by all but the Sultan—Arabi Bey and the Army Ready for Business.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Cairo, May 27.—The ultimatum of the English and French governments further prescribes exile from the interior of Egypt of Abdallah Pasha and Ali Fehmy Pasha who, next to Arabi Bey, are leaders of the military party. Diplomats consider it almost certain the ministry and military party will reject the ultimatum.

Agents of England and France have been summoned to Ismaila palace and the ministry resigned after refusing the demand of England and France and referring them to the sultan.

London, May 27.—A correspondent of the Times at Alexandria asserts that the resignation of the ministry is in consequence of an order from the porte. Cherif Pasha will form a new ministry.

A dispatch to the Standard from Cairo states that Arabi Bey sent an officer to the porte with a petition assuring the sultan of his devotion to national authority and praying for the deposition of the khedive in favor of Halem Pasha. The petition is signed by the ministry just resigned and eight notables.

Cairo, May 27.—The British and French consuls general called on Arabi Bey to-day and declared that they held him personally responsible for the maintenance of public security.

The khedive has issued a proclamation to provincial authorities enjoining them to use especial vigilance for maintaining public security. He says the British and French squadrons came to Alexandria with a friendly object and he orders a complete stoppage of recruiting or summoning of reserves. All men called out are ordered home. The khedive will announce in a proclamation to the army that he personally assumes supreme command of troops.

This afternoon the khedive summoned the dignitaries, chief of the deputies and other Arabic nobility, also the principal officers of the army and addressed them in energetic terms on the subject of the existing political situation. He explained the object of the English and French naval expedition and announced that he had assumed supreme command of the army and resolved to maintain strict discipline. The officers present replied in insolent language and declared they would never accept the ultimatum of either England or France, nor recognize the right of interference of any power except Turkey. They then abruptly left the khedive's presence. The khedive has since received a telegram from the military commanders at Alexandria in which they declare they will not recognize anybody but Arabi Bey, and demand his reinstatement within twelve hours. After expiration of that term they will not be responsible for the maintenance of order.

Some Ministerial Notes.

Cairo, May 27.—The president of the council of ministers has sent the following note to the khedive:

Your acceptance of the ultimatum is contrary to the unanimous advice of your ministry as a decision for intervention of foreign powers. This incident constitutes an infringement of the rights of the sultan. We therefore tender our resignation.

The ministry has sent the following reply to the agents of England and France: "Your note touches upon internal questions in regard to which the powers have recognized this liberty of action of the Egyptian government. We are unable to discuss these points without infringing upon imperial firmans and international treaties, and without compromising the organic laws of the country. The government will always be happy to follow your friendly counsel, but regrets, in the present case, its inability to comply with your note. If your governments believe the question raised by you is not exclusively internal, they must submit to the great power under whose sovereignty it is placed." The khedive accepted the resignations.

After an audience with the khedive, the notables, ulemas and military officers, held a meeting at the house of Sultan Pasha where the officers used even more violent language than at the palace. A regular vote for deposition of the khedive was proposed, but the notables and ulemas unanimously opposed such proceedings. It was finally decided to ask the khedive to retain Arabi Bey as minister of war, and Sultan Pasha proceeded to the palace with that message. The khedive absolutely refused to grant the request, and added the porte had telegraphed him congratulating him on his conduct and on his acceptance of the resignation of the ministry.

Cairo, May 28.—The khedive has refused to have any further converse on with the rebels, and the greatest anxiety and excitement prevails in Cairo and Alexandria. At the latter place troops are almost beyond control, and fleets are fully prepared for action. The crisis has assumed alarming proportions. The khedive today received a telegram from the porte expressing disapproval of the attitude of the military party, asking the khedive to advise them to observe moderation. Otherwise foreign intervention may become inevitable. The British consul at Alexandria called a meeting of British subjects this afternoon. He said there was no reason to apprehend danger to life or property from the Egyptian garrison, but if necessity should arise for their leaving the city they would be protected by ironclads while embarking.

Constantinople, May 28.—The French ambassador dined with the sultan today. The menacing attitude assumed toward the khedive by the actions in Egypt causes excitement. The French authorities are greatly irritated by the intelligence that Turkish troops have disembarked near the frontier, between Gallipoli and Tunis, in order to enforce the law already existing. The submission of insurgent Arabs is now regarded as improbable.

Spanish Governmental Affairs.

Madrid, May 27.—At a council of ministers to-day there was revealed a difference of views on the tariff policy between Premier Sagasta and the ministers of finance, of the colonies and public works. No decision, however, was arrived at. The favorable reports of authorities on the state of the crops after the last ten days' rainfall have decided the council for the present to adjourn the proposed suspension of import duties on corn. The captain general of Catalonia and of the Basque provinces report that the agitation is not spreading much since the appearing of several small bands which slowly retired toward the frontier before the troops. The Cuban deputy, Senor Labra, presented a memorial for immediate abolition of slavery, and a veteran says liberals, democrats and republicans will vote for the motion; but the cabinet decline to modify the law taxing the abolition bill for 1888.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

London, May 27.—In commons, on Sir Wilfred Lawson (radical) protesting against the liberal government upholding the integrity of the Ottoman empire, and asking a pledge that force shall not be employed in Egypt, Gladstone stated it was impossible to give such a pledge, but there is nothing at present to make it likely that force will be necessary.

London, May 27.—In the commons Gladstone added that it was consistent with public interest and views of either of the powers not to maintain the sovereignty of the Sultan. The government have always objected to separate action which would be duly objectionable. In this instance, on account of our intimate relations with France, he deprecated further discussion of the matter.

Harcourt stated the government had no intention of taking any step respecting the recent speech of Davitt at Manchester.

Trevelyan stated the cases of imprisoned suspects were continually under consideration.

On motion for adjournment of the house a warm discussion ensued concerning the evicted tenants of Lord Clancarty.

Dillon said he was willing to give a pledge no violence would result if huts were allowed to be erected so as to save evicted persons from going to the workhouse.

Trevelyan said the evicted numbered 215 families and huts could be erected for their shelter, but intimidation would be sternly repressed.

House then adjourned.

Foreign Notes.

It is reported, the British government has received a telegram stating that Arabi Bey has firmly resolved not to submit.

Consideration of the Japanese indemnity fund bill was resumed. Saunders, of Nebraska, moved an amendment to pay George S. Fisher, consul at Kanagawa, $15,000 for losses in consequence of forcible ejection from his residence and destruction of property.

Jones, of Florida, offered an amendment providing that, before any payment of money be authorized by the bill, the president shall communicate to the governments of Great Britain, France and Netherlands the action of this government, and request their cooperation in making full restitution to Japan, and without action on the bill or amendments senate adjourned until Monday.

LONDON LETTERS.

Notes from the News Gatherers of New York Journals on Foreign Politics and People.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

New York, May 27.—The Tribune's London cable continues to bring accounts of Irish agitation in America to all, the correspondent remarking that the papers regard it in the light of the president's personal organ. Disparaging comments on the president's apparent hesitation whether to surrender to the Irish demands. Both Englishmen and Americans are asking why Arthur contemplates removing a minister for whom Garfield would have proposed to congress to create an embassadorship. The Spectator says bluntly that if the president yields the American national policy is to be subordinated to the Irish intrigues, the Irish object being to secure a minister without good qualities who might embroil the countries and so create the possibility of a rising in Ireland. It adds that Lowell obeyed his instructions and secured release of the suspects, where a man of less tact would have failed.

In the present June number of the Nineteenth Century the venerable Earl Grey publishes a long article attacking vehemently Mr. Gladstone's entire Irish policy, and declaring that Ireland is now in a far worse condition than it was before the premier entered upon his work of so called "conciliation." This article is of some importance as representing the views of the whig element of the liberal party, which is now drifting more and more to the rear every day. The radicals are eager to drive the whigs completely out of the organization and already exercise the greater share of power. Sharp discipline is being applied in radical circles where Goldwin Smith is being bitterly attacked for his letters on Ireland. Forster, too, has been practically drummed out of the ranks. Mr. Gladstone has gone to spend the Whitsuntide recess with Lord Rosebery at his pleasant and historic seat of the Durdans, at Epsom.

I hear from Constantinople, from a source not likely to be misinformed on such a subject, that the sultan refuses to permit the Russian and Roumania Hebrews, flying from the most horrible persecution, to emigrate to Palestine in large numbers, or form permanent colonies there. Many families are ready to proceed to the land of Promise, but the Turkish consuls at Odessa and Bucharest refuse them passports. Two hundred families of emigrants are now in Constantinople literally at the point of starvation. Lawrence Oliphant is doing his best to stop the tide of emigration until the difficulties have been cleared away. The sultan's inhumanity to the Jewish refugees now at Constantinople daily becomes more marked, and inflicts heavy suffering on these helpless and miserable people. English influence at Constantinople, as I need hardly say, is dead to all intents and purposes, but possibly a few words from the United States might induce the sultan to show some mercy to the scores of wretched families now likely to perish at his palace gates of hunger. It is certainly horrible that in this century of alleged civilization men, women and children driven from their homes by a persecution as cowardly, cruel and revolting as anything recorded of the worst days of the middle ages, or of Indian massacres in the new world, should find no help or shelter anywhere.

The great success of the amusement season here is German opera. Two companies are now performing to crowded houses. The Wagoner troupe had 1,100 pounds subscribed before opening its doors, and every seat has also been taken for the season of French drama next month.

W. H. Vanderbilt, Franklin B. Gowen, Sir Henry Tyler and Lord Bury had a meeting at McHenry's this week and exchanged freely their views as to the four great trunk lines, which they control. Important results are looked for from the conference.

New York, May 28.—Herald, London. Although American horses cannot be said to have been greatly distinguished this week, Sachem maintained the prestige which Iroquois and Foxhall gained last season. Both Gerald and Sachem are engaged in the Sandown Park Derby, which has the handsome amount of one thousand sovereigns added to the prize, and will be worth winning. Probably one of the pair will carry away the colors at the fashionable meeting especially as neither is engaged in the grand prize at Paris. The most formidable opponents they will have to meet at Sandown are St. Marguerite, Nellie, and Madeline and should Sachem put in an appearance, he will have a reasonable chance of success. Comanche and Massasoit who ran during the week will show an improvement later on. Beyond the Sandown event the American horses will be held to reserve for the Ascot meeting, when in all probability Foxhall will show his superiority in winning the cup. Several excellent two-year-olds are there expected to make their debut, from Lorillard and Keene's stable.

The report of the engagement of Princess Beatrice to Prince William of Hesse is officially denied. It is said the princess is so devoted to the companion of the queen that she is not anxious to be wedded. Besides, it might not be convenient to ask parliament to grant a provision for a second time in one session.

Princess Louise has brought her holiday to a close by sailing in the Sarmatian yesterday.

It appears that society is to be deprived the pleasure of overfeting and overfeeding King Cetewayo, the government having decided that his presence would be inopportune and dangerous to the peace of Zululand, the probability being that after having been the lion of the London season the monarch would find an easy way back to the throne from which he was hunted by Lord Chelmsford and run to earth by a major of dragoons.

Of the Derby, a correspondent says: "Americans supported Sachem stoutly, and it is said that one well known American sporting celebrity stood to win 3000 pounds. There was a feeling of disappointment that Lorillard's colt secured only third place, and the impression seems to prevail among Americans that Sachem would have done better, and even win, had not his trainer given him so severe a gallop over the whole course on the day preceding the race."

Geographical and scientific circles are interested in the accounts brought to England by Captain Burton and Commander Cameron from the gold coast of Africa. The former stated that on landing he found women washing sand for gold and earning from $3.50 to $4 a day. They found gold spangles after the rain everywhere in the streets and roads. The country is impregnated with gold. It is hoped that enterprising men will take the matter in hand, and make great fortunes, as western Africa is another California.

The prosecution of the Freiheit does not seem to have terrified the nihilist society of London. A meeting of the Communistischer Arbeiterbildungsverein resolved to instruct the Freiheit to continue its publication and make its tone still more revolutionary. A meeting of the Social Democratic Workingmen's Club adopted a resolution "highly approving the courageous deed of the Irish rebels," which was especially well timed at the moment when certain chiefs of the land league party were on the point of entering into a shameful treaty with the English government.

The Sunday World's cable says: In spite of the many denials that have been made in various quarters there cannot be one iota of doubt of the fact that Messrs. Dillon and Davitt have effectually superseded Mr. Parnell in the leadership of the Irish party. The open attack by Mr. Davitt on the treaty of Kilmainham with Mr. Dillon's point blank refusal to make any compromise with the government, are obviously, as much as people may deplore or reluctant as they may be to admit the fact, much more in harmony with the popular feeling of Ireland than the Parnell policy, of trimming and bargaining which Bismarck would probably style, recalling his mot about Napoleon Third, "a policy of tricksters." This much is certain, the main body of the Irish party will continue to press for home rule, leaving Parnell and what few followers he may have far behind, and Mr. Dillon must be admitted to be an effective speaker, and he is entirely fearless. Mr. Davitt is not less effective as an orator and is equally incapable of entering into secret treaties. Mr. Parnell's compact with Gladstone is almost the universal opinion in Ireland, and it is not at all likely to be changed by his milk and water speech of Thursday. Everybody now sees that nothing but Ireland will be heard of in parliament again this session.

The entire programme of the ministry has been knocked on the head, and the public looks on in sheer bewilderment, thinking Gladstone is sure to bring everything out right. Nevertheless complaints are becoming general of the utter neglect of English legislation and there have a formidable array of local questions and many of them of great importance waiting action by parliament, are even more pronounced in their grumblings.

ONE PARTY OR THE OTHER.

The result of next week's election in our state will be distinctively either a democratic or a republican triumph. The parties have made up the issue in a form that leaves no middle ground. In so far as there can be on this occasion any political result, independent or selective voting will contribute only to the aid of one party or the other, as that vote may be cast. If the democrats should gain a triumph through the help of independent republican voters the result would not be an independent but strictly and simply a democratic victory. Either the democratic or the republican state ticket will be elected; the legislature will have either a republican or a democratic majority. Such will be the consequence, no matter by what vote—independent or otherwise—the successful candidates may win. Has the democratic party done anything to deserve an expression of public confidence? No doubt the steadfast adherents of that party think it has; but have persons who are not among its steadfast adherents any reason for thinking so? Its course on important public questions has not altered, certainly has not improved, since its claims were last rejected by the people. It has proposed nothing during many years that the country has been inclined to accept. It cannot now distinctly formulate a policy. For many years it was only a party of negations, that is, it contented itself with declaring its hostility to all republican measures as they arose. But it has not now even negative spirit or courage. Mere antagonism to republican measures it found would not do; so now it has quit even that, or antagonizes them so feebly as to show that it has no real earnestness even in negations.

Since the republican party is in power it is incumbent on the democratic party, if it would supplant it, to show a reason why. Such reason is not yet forthcoming; we do not think the times are likely to furnish it. Experience with democratic management of the state's affairs has not been so hopeful as to invite a return to the experiment. In national affairs the party has committed so many blunders and has been distrusted through so many years that one can scarcely conceive of its ever being entrusted with the government. Being a minority of the people in a larger number of the states, [illegible] it cannot possibly win unless republicans go over to it. Now, republicans who criticise their own party find fault chiefly with the management of it rather than with its principles. But it so happens that all the evils of party management of which they complain are intensified in the democratic party. No republican is going to that party to get rid of bossism or the spoils system. Under democratic methods those evils are always enormously aggravated. It was the democratic party that gave them birth. That was the party which invented the doctrine that "to the victors belong the spoils;" and it has invariably revived the doctrine and practiced it whenever it has had a chance to do so. An election is now at hand, and there are issues to be considered. If the democratic party had recently shown cause to entitle it to public confidence it might then appeal to republicans for the help necessary to give it a majority vote and the control of the state and national governments. But it may be questioned whether any republican, when he comes to cast his vote, will be able to see that the democratic party is more worthy than he has thought it heretofore.

EFFICIENCY IN CONGRESS.

Those who are affecting to belittle Mr. George's work in congress may properly have their minds directed to an inquiry as to the achievements of the democratic candidate for governor, Mr. Smith, when he was in the seat now held by Mr. George. History, it must be said, however regretfully, maintains a solemn silence on those achievements. The affairs of Bourbon politics engrossed all his time. Oregon's commercial interests got small share of it. Mr. Fenton [illegible] whose career—though it as yet [illegible]—indicates that he considers [illegible] the be-all and end-all of everything [illegible] grows out of political [illegible]. As for Mr. George he began his work [illegible] only a few months ago. But he has shown himself indefatigable, and as much [illegible] as any in bringing the wants of the state to the attention of congress. He has [illegible] in committee measures for development and support of commercial interests, and he has secured reports in favor of large appropriations—larger by far than were ever before secured by the state's entire delegation in congress. These will undoubtedly secure favorable action when the appropriation bills are reached. No representative from our state has ever done the amount of work for our commercial interests that has been performed by Mr. George. The people will not set him aside for a new and untried man, whose only recommendation is fidelity to a party which forfeited the confidence of the country twenty-one years ago, and has never yet regained it. Since Mr. Smith, with his large abilities, did nothing in congress, what is to be expected of Mr. Fenton? Mr. George's work shows, however, what is to be expected of him. Oregon [illegible] had two democratic senators in congress, both together, during the whole time they have occupied seats in that body have not labored with so much effect for the state as Mr. George has labored for it during the short term of six months. If our people want efficiency in congress it is time now to look to it.

MR. NIMMO'S FAILURE.

Some time ago the senate asked Mr. Nimmo, chief of the bureau of statistics to formulate a statement of the comparative rates of wages in different countries. He attempted to do it, but after several weeks of serious effort has given it up as a bad job. The difficulties which he found in the way may be conjectured from the amazing diversity of opinion between two eminent authorities on so simple a question as the relative superiority of the wages of the Massachusetts cotton weaver over those of his fellow-craftsman in England. Mr. Carroll D. Wright, the chief of the bureau of labor statistics of Massachusetts, said that the advantage in favor of the former was only 6.8 per cent., while Representative Chace, of Rhode Island, himself a large employer of labor, insists that the average wages of cotton workers in the United States is 62 per cent. greater than in England. Mr. Nimmo concludes that "under the most favorable conditions, the tariff question in its bearings upon the labor question is one of great complexity, but it becomes obscure and interminable when the discussion involves both the relevancy and the accuracy of data employed to establish apparently fundamental propositions." It might be added that any inquiry into "comparative" rates of wages should include not only a statement of their comparative purchasing power, but also an attempt to discover what relations the wages paid for labor in protected industries bear to those which are open to the competition of the world. A recent letter from a United States consul in one of the German cities, published in THE OREGONIAN, gave some intimation of how likely economic statistics compiled from abroad are cooked to suit home consumption.

There may be a few republicans—though the number is certainly few—who would like to see Mr. Smith governor of the state. But would they like to see Mr. Weatherford governor? This is a question for independent democrats too, as well as republicans.

Mrs. Sprague is again Kate Chase. It is to be hoped that the end of this whole disgusting affair has been reached.

THE WILLAMETTE CHANNEL.

The proposition made last week that a commission be appointed to establish dock limits for the cities of Portland and East Portland should not be forgotten. The matter is too important to be neglected. Already wharves are pushing out into the channel encroaching upon space which should be left free. The channel width suggested by Engineer Powell—thirteen hundred and fifty feet—is none too broad and should be strictly maintained. There is another feature in the case; extension beyond the line heretofore followed by common consent, will make an irregular front and seriously affect values of old dock property.

Capt. Powell says that in course of time the Willamette river will be made a canal from Ross island to its junction with the Columbia. In its present state, every flood makes the river broader and shoaler, and every passing steamboat contributes toward the same result. The play of the waves upon the light, alluvial banks extends the bounds of the stream and the constantly caving soil gravitates toward the lowest or deepest point in the channel and so fills it up. Swan island bar, or more properly the Swan island shoal, one of the chief obstacles to navigation, is a result of this broading and deeping process, which in this instance has changed and curved the course of the river so as to slacken the currents and impair their force. It will be necessary to confine the river to a regular channel by revetments, similar to the government work at Coon island slough, which is not affected by the constant swash. This work, which may not be necessary for many years, can easily be accomplished, and its cost will be comparatively small.

Cameron is frightened. His utterances are panicky. His conference on Saturday with a number of business men in Philadelphia was characteristic of the bully brought to bay. His threat to change front on the the tariff question and fight for free trade, showing himself ready to shift his course on a great question for intimidation or revenge, is what might be expected of an unscrupulous political freebooter and tyrant who perceives his power slipping from his hands. This threat will not coerce the republicans even of protectionist Pennsylvania into submission to the bosship of Cameron. The threat is entirely impotent, because there is no body of opinion in Pennsylvania that does not earnestly support protection, and the state could not send to the senate a man of either party who would not be at least as efficient as Cameron in that behalf. The boss is making a fool of himself. He increases the weakness of his position by showing his alarm, and makes it evident by his threat to change his course on an important public question in order to obtain personal revenge that he is even less fit to be trusted in questions that do not pertain to politics than on those which relate to political methods and party policy. His utterance of alarm and resentment at finding the political power he has so long abused, threatened and defied, might well be called a spiteful "squawk." A more dignified term is not needed to describe it.

Not all the objections, nor even the main ones, to the re-election of R. E. Bybee are answered by the hoodlum Sunday papers, when they quote from an article published last year by THE OREGONIAN, which showed that Bybee's court was not the most expensive of the justices' courts of the city. A man's habits, associations, moral character and general conduct may properly be considered when he is a candidate for office. We should, however, expect these hoodlum Sunday papers to be great admirers of Mr. Bybee. The partiality goes on the unerring law of natural selection.

The republican legislative ticket for this county is composed throughout of substantial men. Of course there are men of merit on the democratic legislative ticket. But political preferences come in here; and we take it that there is no republican who would be pleased to see the state again under the control of the Grover ring, or Grover himself re-elected to the United States senate. Republicans, therefore, while sending good men to the legislature, may also guard against these undesired contingencies.

Mr. Bradlaugh, regarded as a champion atheist in England, was "sat down upon" as a weak brother in a recent conference of freethinkers in Paris. Bradlaugh may turn out a good Christian yet.

"It is said that public men in France are more closely connected with journalism than any other country." That accounts for some of the mysteries and peculiarities of French journalism perhaps.

Capt. John Wolf is an estimable man. But the question arises, who will be sheriff de facto in case Capt. John Wolf is elected?

General Rosecrans is modest—"The delegation from our coast all worked nobly, but I did more than all of them."

C. F. PEARSON'S

ROOFING COMPOSITION.

Patented Nov. 16, 1880.

This is a process by which a condemned tin or canvas roof can be made better than a new tin or canvas roof, and make it last forever.

It WILL NOT Crack and Leak

By reason of contraction or expansion, as is the result with a tin roof. It is simple in construction and durable in all climates. It consists only of cloth and paint composition.

BY PERMISSION WE REFER:

PORTLAND, Or., March 29, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON, PORTLAND, OREGON:
Dear Sir—Your Roofing Composition has been thoroughly tried in this city, and so far as I know has given general satisfaction. From what I know and have seen I believe it to be better and more durable than either tin or asbestos. Very respectfully,
GEO. J. AINSWORTH,
Supt. River Division, O. R. & N. Co.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 4, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—We take this opportunity to express our entire satisfaction with your roofing composition that has been on over our store for the last five years. We shall cheerfully recommend your invention as being the best thing we know of for a roof. Respectfully yours,
W. JACKSON & CO.,
Importers and Dealers in Crockery and Glassware, No. 51 Front St.

ALAMEDA, Cal., March 28, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in being able to say that I consider your "Roofing Composition" a first-class article for the purpose for which it is intended, and that it possesses all qualities claimed for it, and I can cheerfully recommend it to those having need for such an article. Very respectfully,
G. I. THOMPSON.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 25, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—Allow me to testify my appreciation of your durable roofing composition. As this steamer was placed on the opposition line last summer, it was roughly used by the passenger travel. It did not injure it at all. Had it been a tin or any other kind of roof, it would have required repair, if not entirely spoiled. It is now in as good condition without any additional cost as when first put on. Yours respectfully,
JAMES WILSON,
Master O. R. & N. Co's Str. Dixie Thompson.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 24, 1882.
MR. C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—Notwithstanding our efforts to secure a good roof over our immense stock of goods we have tried asbestos roof and plain tin roof, with all the mechanical skill—we have been losers of goods to thousands of dollars from leaky roofs until we got your roofing composition on over our store. It has given entire satisfaction. Never caused the loss of goods to the value of one cent. It has now been on for years. Very respectfully yours,
FLEISCHNER, MAYER & CO.,
Importers of Dry Goods.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 11, 1882.
C. F. PEARSON:
Dear Sir—I have tried your "Roofing Composition" on several of my houses in Portland, Oregon. They all, so far as I know, have given entire satisfaction. I believe it makes a better roof than tin or asbestos.
Respectfully yours, J. C. AINSWORTH.

We claim it to be superior to anything yet discovered in the shape of a roof, as it will save its cost, even on a new roof, in less than no time.

The "Cloth Paint Composition," and the manner of applying the same, is included in the Letter of Patent, granted Nov. 16, 1880. Any infringement on same shall be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Orders solicited on roofing and painting. Satisfaction guaranteed. Address orders to

SAYS

"THE OVAL CAKE"

Is revolutionizing the Soap Trade. Housekeepers who once try it never again go back to the wasteful, adulterated and incompletely pressed styles heretofore in use. The advantages of

Higgins & Co's "New" Soap

Over all other Laundry Soaps are:

1st. It is the only Soap molded by STEAM pressure, and consequently contains more soap and less water to the pound than the old style hand-pressed soaps.

2d. The Oval Cake does not, like the other styles, wash away in using to a thin piece, which crumbles and is wasted, but it wears down to a thick lump, which you can stick a fork into and use entirely up.

3d. It contains no adulteration whatever.

4th. It is the handsomest, most convenient to handle, most economical, and considering its superior quality the cheapest Washing soap ever made. 1m29d2w

CITY.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.—Special services were held last evening in the Unitarian church by the Rev. T. L. Eliot, in commemoration of the recurrence of Decoration Day. The church was tastefully decorated with flags, recalling to many an eye present the bloody scenes through which the star-spangled banner was carried before it became the emblem of liberty it now is throughout the world. The attendance was large, filling the porches and doorways, and many went away, unable either to see or hear the exercises. The members of the various posts of the Grand Army of the Republic in this city turned out in uniform and took part in the exercises. The choir sang "Father, I Lend To Thee," which was followed by the reading of the scriptures, Psalms CXX., CXXII., and prayer by the pastor. Mrs. Des Prats and Mr. Bullock sang, "Oh, That I Had Wings Like a Dove," and then the walls rang to the voices of the congregation as the national anthem, "My Country, 'tis of Thee," swelled out upon the air. Then followed the discourse by Mr. Eliot, which lack of space alone prevents giving the mention it deserves. The services closed with the battle hymn of the republic and the benediction by the pastor.

EXCURSION ON DECORATION DAY.—The fine steamer Lurline will leave the foot of Yamhill street Tuesday May 30, at 9 A. M., for Vancouver. The ladies of St. Paul's guild, of Oregon City, have chartered this steamer for the occasion, and will gladly receive friends and excursionists. The V. T. Co. hold in reserve another steamer and barge to lay on if necessary to meet the demands of excursionists. A pleasant time is anticipated. Remember, the foot of Yamhill street, dock of Thompson, DeHart & Co.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S CONCERT.—The officers of Vancouver Post have chartered a steamer for the occasion and with the ladies of the garrison will attend Mr. Oechsle's concert at the New Market, Friday evening. The feature of the evening will be the new march composed for two bands by Mr. Oechsle and dedicated to Mr. C. H. Prescott. It will be performed by the 21st infantry band and the Orchestral Union of this city.

CUSTOMARY GENEROSITY.—The G. A. R. committee appointed to collect funds for defraying the expenses of Decoration Day found not the least difficulty in collecting $400, the amount necessary. In no instance was more than $5 accepted from one person, though twice the amount was often offered. This is mentioned just to illustrate that Portland's business men are not only prosperous, but generous.

THEY DID NOT SPEAK.—R. D. Pitts and A. F. Sears Jr., candidates on the democratic county ticket were advertised to speak at Rooster Rock, Saturday night and started thither in a buggy. On account of a dispute between Capt. John Harlow and the O. R. & N. Co., the ferry at the Sandy was stopped, and the aspirants for office, after two hours' vain endeavor to cross, returned to the city.

SERIOUS RESULTS.—Doctor Caples, of St. John, who was injured a few days ago by the falling of a chain on the dock at the foot of Morrison street, is now in a very precarious condition. Two long, ugly gashes were cut in the scalp; and on Saturday erysipelas set in, rendering his condition critical in the extreme.

INQUEST.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of Norman J. Wilson, who was drowned Saturday night, and a verdict of accidental death rendered. Pending an answer with regard to the funeral from relatives in California, the body was placed in ice by Coroner Garnold.

ADMITTED TO ART SCHOOL.—Willie DuBois, son of Mr. Chas. E. DuBois, who is abroad with his mother and sister, was recently admitted to the Royal Art school at Milan. He displayed no little skill in molding figures from wax, and evidently has impressed critics with his cleverness.

RETURNED WITH PRISONERS.—Chief of Police Barry of Astoria arrived here Saturday night and left by the Fleetwood yesterday morning, having under escort Wm. Grape and George Drinkwater, who are wanted at the Venice of America for larceny.

NEW LODGE, K. OF P.—Wednesday evening next, Knights of Pythias lodge No. 12 (name not yet chosen) will be organized in East Portland. The ceremony of institution will take place in the hall of Mystic lodge Thursday evening.

NEW UNIFORMS.—Ivanhoe lodge No. 10, Knights of Pythias, received last week from Columbus, Ohio, new swords, caps and belts, which will be worn for the first time at the grand lodge, which meets at Salem Tuesday June 6th.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Brotherton, who died last Saturday evening suddenly from consumption, will take place at 1 o'clock to-day, from the residence on J street, between Eleventh and Twelfth.

CITY PRIMARIES.—The city central committee have called primary meetings for Wednesday, May 31, to choose delegates to the city republican convention, which will be held Wednesday, June 14.

ELI PERKINS' LECTURES.—The subject of Eli Perkins' lecture before the Y. M. C. A. to-night, will be "The Philosophy of Fun." To-morrow night the subject will be "The Perkins Family."

BASE BALL.—In the match game yesterday at the East Portland grounds, between the Stars and Rosebuds, the former were victorious by a score of 27 to [illegible]. Six innings were played.

THE STEAMERS.—The State crossed in at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, left for Portland at 9:30 and arrived here at 4:30. The Oregon arrived down at 6 and crossed out at 10 A. M.

RETURNED.—Paul Van Fridagh, Fred Pittock and [illegible] Wood, students at St. Augustine college, Benicia, returned by yesterday's steamer for their summer vacation.

PICNICS YESTERDAY.

The annual pow-wow of the order of Red Men was held yesterday at U. B. Park. Athletic sports and games were among the pleasures of the day and an enjoyable time was had by all who attended.

At City View Park the members of the Portland Land League gave a picnic. The attendance was large and it was a most gratifying result in a financial way to the league.

A pleasant and enjoyable time was had by those who attended the picnic given by the Portland Turn Verein at Gambrinus gardens. The day was spent after the German customs and many excellent feats of the Turners' skill were given.

A BLUNDER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

When Mr. Leander Holmes offered to donate certain sums of money to various institutions in case of his election to the office of justice of the peace, he thereby disqualified himself for holding the office, even if he should be elected to it. The courts hold such acts to be against public policy. Bybee certainly would take advantage of it. It was an unwise and unnecessary thing on the part of Mr. Holmes.

P. P.

FALSE REPORT.

Mr. Leander Holmes desires to say that he has not resigned or withdrawn from his nomination as the republican candidate for justice in Morrison precinct in favor of Bybee, or in favor of any other person, nor does he intend to withdraw or resign.

ELI ARRIVES IN TOWN.

Melville D. Landon, Eli Perkins, arrived from San Francisco on the State yesterday, and took rooms with his wife at the Esmond. An [illegible] of THE OREGONIAN caught a glimpse of the humorist-lecturer-author, and asked him what his mission was in Oregon.

"I came," said Eli, "on a private mission—a very secret government mission, and cannot be interviewed to-day. It's impossible."

"But you don't mind telling me privately," asked the reporter.

"No, I cannot talk now. I am not in condition. You see I have just arrived on the rough steamer myself, while my truth and veracity haven't arrived yet."

"Where are they?"

"Well, my truth and veracity were found to be very heavy, and they are coming up on the freight boat. They won't be here till morning. Come and see me then."

Our reporter afterward met Eli's Uncle Consider in the hall and asked him what Eli was about up here.

"One of his schemes," said the old man, as he wiped his bald head with a red bandanna handkerchief—"one of his schemes to build some water factories in Portland, or rather to establish some water condensing factories."

"What does he want to condense water for?" asked our reporter.

"Eli's idea," said the old man, "is to boil down water, condense it, you know—here in Portland, where it rains so much. He proposes to boil down barrels and barrels of it, then ship it down to California, where they have no water."

"But what will the Californians do with boiled down water?"

"Why, they will dilute it and use it for irrigating purposes, just what California needs. You can spare the water, can't you? When I was in Portland before"—

"But you were never here before, Mr. Perkins?" suggested our reporter.

"Yes, I was, young man, many, many years ago, I should say about 1800. Judge Deady was then a fair-haired boy, innocent and blithesome. Seventy-eight years afterwards," continued the old man, "if my memory does not fail me, Mayor Thompson arrived in Portland. This was in 1498. Mayor Thompson came over with Columbus, landed at Plymouth Rock and took the Northern Pacific train straight for Portland, and"—

"But there wasn't any Northern Pacific railroad then, was there, Mr. Perkins?"

"There wasn't, hey! Now that shows just how much you know about it. I remember how Portland grew and flourished—how you built churches and jails and filled them with your most patriotic citizens. I remember how you all practiced economy and self-denial in those early days—how you gave up drinking and swearing because THE OREGONIAN convinced your people that swearing was incompatible with family prayers. How beautiful! How self-sacrificing! and—"

"Shall you remain here long?" interrupted our reporter, "Shall you settle—?"

"It is my intention," said the old man, "if I am not financially embarrassed, to settle in Portland. I always settle in every place I go to; but if I am not able to settle my old friend Mayor Thompson will settle for me. I understand he is an old settler."

"But that isn't what I meant—that—"

"Never mind what you meant, my son. Now I must go up and help Eli about his lecture Monday and Tuesday nights. Good night!" and the old man went upstairs, blew out the gas and went to bed.

[Our new young man, within fifteen minutes after he had returned from the Land League picnic, handed in the above, and readers may take it cum grano salis. It is to be hoped that Mr. Perkins will not feel that his field in lying is being seriously encroached upon.—CITY ED.]

TRAGEDY AT TACOMA.

Thomas Rector Murders his Wife and with the same Weapon Puts an End to his Own Life.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW TACOMA, W. T., May 29.—This morning at about 10:30, Tacoma was shocked by a double tragedy of the most distressing character. Thomas Rector shot his wife in the head with a single barreled pistol, left her for dead in a bedroom up stairs, then descended to the dining room, deliberately reloaded his pistol and shot himself through the head and fell dead upon the spot. He evidently placed his right arm with the pistol in hand against the door-casing, and leaning his head against the muzzle of the pistol, fired the fatal shot, the ball passing directly through and falling on the other side of the room. Mrs. Rector was in an upstairs room, just inside, with her side toward the entrance. Her husband placed the pistol against her head just back of the ear, the ball passing between the two tables of the occipital bone at the base of the brain, and there lodged. The surgeons probed to the depth of six inches. She fell forward and was able afterwards to go down the stairs. When reaching the door she fell outward on to the porch, her groans soon after attracting the attention of neighbors. She still lives with but slight chances of recovery. After lying senseless for about two hours she said to her father, "Tom did it; he shot me." The coroner's jury are still in session. The family is most highly respected, Mrs. Rector being a daughter of Dr. A. Walters, the postmaster of Tacoma, and they have the heartiest sympathy of a large circle of friends. Three bright, interesting children are orphaned by this sad affair. On Thursday week they buried their youngest child, Nona, a little girl of three years, since which time Mr. Rector has been very despondent, at times taking large doses of chloral, and numbers attribute the act to temporary aberration of mind. In his pocketbook was found this memorandum:

"Will Rainier lodge see me buried by the side of Nona. American lodge of Humboldt will make the outlay good, or should; 9:30 P. M., two ounces chloral."

As he took a single barreled pistol last night from the store of Hanson & Co., such a note seems to have meant only suicide. This morning he went up stairs perhaps to say good-bye to his amiable wife, who was packing his trunk preparatory to his departure to-morrow on the G. W. Elder, and yielding to an irresistible impulse the shot was fired. Nothing has occurred in the history of the two Tacomas creating such a feeling.

COWLITZ CO. NEWS.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

CARROLLTON, W. T., May 21.

The newly appointed postmaster at this place is C. C. Rulifson, not C. C. Rich, as announced by the newspapers.

The school at Carroll's Point is taught by Mrs. C. Miles. There is a larger number of pupils enrolled this summer than ever before.

In this vicinity, prospects are good for a full fruit crop this year; trees are heavily laden with bloom. Cherries are likely to be late but plenty of them.

The logging camps back on the Cowlitz are commencing work which has been delayed by bad roads, weather and difficulty of getting supplies transported. There will be six camps in full blast before close of summer, each employing six or eight men.

A young man named Walter J. Huntington shot himself in the foot Tuesday. A Hooster revolver he was carrying slipped into his boot-leg, and in attempting its removal it was discharged, leaving the ball firmly imbedded between the bones, where the attending surgeon decides to let it remain.

STABBING AFFRAY.

Jim Mooney, a Disreputable Jockey, Inflicts Three Wounds Upon Harry Smiley.

A serious stabbing affray occurred yesterday afternoon at the City View park in which Harry Smiley, a well known driver and owner of fast horses, received three severe cuts at the hands of Jim Mooney, a stable jockey, lately from San Francisco.

The cause of the affray was traceable to the trotting races that had taken place a short time before. The usual bad feeling engendered in such cases between rival jockeys and their backers culminated in a fistic encounter, in which Mooney, Joe Day and Barney McCaff engaged, and resulting in Mooney's receiving considerable rough treatment, a black eye and a mangled ear. Smiley was not engaged in the fight and knew nothing about it. His horse won the race, and when he left the track he started for his stables. To reach them he had to pass the stables where Mooney was. The latter came out as Smiley was going by and accused him of having incited the men who had thrashed him. Smiley denied having anything to do with the fuss and was passing on when Mooney grabbed up a bucket and struck Smiley in the back of the head. Smiley turned and knocked Mooney down, and again started on his way. Mooney jumped up and drawing a long bladed pocket-knife, stabbed Smiley in the small of the back. Smiley again knocked his assailant down and did so twice in succession, each time receiving a cut, one in the ear and the other in the arm. At the third stab the knife broke, leaving the blade in the muscles of Smiley's arm. The wound in the back bled profusely and Smiley, becoming weak from loss of blood, fell to the ground. Seeing this Mooney turned and ran, just in time to escape the friends of Smiley, who had seen the attack and were marching to his assistance. The wounded man was brought to the city, fainting, in spite of his splendid constitution, from the pain and loss of blood occasioned by the long ride. He was taken to a room in the Richmond house and Drs. Rex and Chisellin were summoned, who dressed the wounds. The cut in the back is an ugly gash and would have been most dangerous had not the knife fortunately struck the last rib and glanced downwards. It is quite serious, however, and will keep Smiley confined to his room for a long time. The stabs in the ear and arm are mere flesh wounds. Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of Mooney, but he has not yet been captured.

LATER.—At one o'clock this morning hemorrhage set in, and it was thought Smiley would bleed to death.

A POLITICAL GROWL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Growler has figured up from McCormick's almanac that there are about one thousand voters in Portland who will at the ensuing election dispose of their suffrages for a consideration, ranging in value from as low as a drink of lightning whisky up to five dollars in coin; that, also, that there are about four thousand voters of honorable, self-respecting men, who would not under any circumstances dishonor themselves by voting for a corrupt consideration. But from the way political matters have been, heretofore managed, these four thousand honorable men have been outvoted, ruled and gagged by the one thousand roughs, vags and dead-beats, led by the little ring of bummer politicians. Shall this state of affairs continue? Have the four thousand honorable men the requisite manhood, courage, honesty, self-respect, love of country and common decency to say to the political ringsters: "If you put up bad men for office we have the power and disposition to beat them, and we will beat them. We pay the taxes and support the government, and we will not have our public servants dictated to us from the rum holes, and forced upon us by the purchased votes of the riff-raff who have nothing to lose, nothing to pay, and nothing to fear from the bad administration of public business."

No. 2. What difference does it make to me when I pay my taxes, whether the man who makes out my receipt is a democrat or republican? It is the amount of tax bill that concerns me, and not the gentleman who signs his name as sheriff of Multnomah county, and who has had nothing to do with the laws assessing the taxes. And the same remark applies equally to all the other county officers. Their places are purely clerical and not political, and the taxpayer is interested not in their politics, but in the amount of money which he must pay for their services, and the manner which they perform their duty. Therefore "Taxpayer" is interested in knowing if the county business could not be just as well performed by a clerk and sheriff, each receiving but three thousand dollars per year, instead of the twelve thousand per year now paid. "Growler" observes that "business is business," and if Ladd & Tilton, Allen & Lewis, the Gas and Water Works, the railroad companies, and everybody else can employ just as competent and responsible men for three thousand dollars per year, as have ever honored our county offices, then why not the county hire such men at such salaries, and save eighteen thousand dollars per year in those two offices alone. Why?

No. 3. Multnomah county and this city are paying out not a cent less than twenty-five thousand dollars per annum for salaries alone, more than ought to be paid. And yet the politicians who have made our reform platforms, and who are now so busily and patriotically blowing their brass horns all over the country, have not dared to open their mouths on this subject. Nor did the independent club attack this abuse, as it certainly was expected to when it made up its ticket of the best men on the other two tickets.

The politicians don't attack this extravagant management of county business, because it constitutes a corruption fund to pay "their workers" to help put the "big guns" into the United States senate. "You tickle me," &c.

No. 4. The article in THE OREGONIAN on the 24th inst., on the administration of county business, is approved by everybody who has the public welfare at heart; and many of your readers have been heard to say, "give it to them again."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The thermometer went up to 97 degrees in Hillsboro last Wednesday.

The Albany Register has been merged into the Yaquina Post and the office removed to Newport.

Mrs. Margaret Bales, a pioneer of '46, died at her home in Jefferson, on the 16th inst. aged 76 years.

J. W. Sappington of Wapato precinct, Washington county, has lost a second child, a girl 14 years old, by diphtheria.

A Good Templar's lodge was organized at Bethel last week, with 35 charter members. This makes eight lodges of that order in Polk county.

The Oregon State Grange, at its recent session, passed resolutions in eulogy of Mrs. W. H. Gray who died at her home in Clatsop county last December.

A correspondent from Cedar mill, Washington county, says: Extensive improvements have been made here during the last three years. Nearly all of the great bodies of swale land here have been cleared of timber and seeded to timothy. The fall fir forests here have also succumbed to the relentless stroke of the farmer's ax and have been burned over and seeded to pasture, upon which ranges a greatly improved breed of stock.

The officers of the Oregon State Grange, elected last week at Salem are: Master, R. P. Boise; Overseer, D. S. K. Buick; Lecturer, H. E. Hayes; Steward, W. B. Thomas; Assistant Steward, William Hilleary; Chaplain, W. H. Gray; Treasurer, B. F. Burch; Secretary, N. W. Frain; Gate Keeper, Thos. Smith; Ceres, E. B. Heath; Pomona, M. J. Harris; Flora, Harriet Cooper; Lady Assistant Steward, L. L. Hilleary; Member Executive Com., John Minto.

Coast Mail: Wesley Conner, J. F. Engeman and J. L. Costa, three of the principal owners of the stave factory at Empire, were last week prospecting in the vicinity of Randolph for a location for an inter mill. They stopped a day at the Ocean house at Bandon and took a survey of the bar and the tides. The rumor that the works at Empire are to be transferred to a new field cannot be traced to good authority, and the most reasonable supposition now is that the prospecting above referred to was done with a view of securing valuable timber lands while they are yet cheap, for the purpose of utilizing the business in the near future.

Washington Territory.

The average product of the Newcastle coal mine is 700 tons per day.

Pierce county levies a 17 mill tax this season. A poll tax of $2 and a road poll of $4 was also levied.

A son of J. Bernard of Palouse City had an eye destroyed by an arrow from the bow of a playmate a few days ago.

The residence of D. N. Taylor, at Pal City, together with its entire contents, valued at $1500, was destroyed by fire on the 23d inst.

The Walla Walla Union complains of the high price of wood in that place and says that coal at $10 per ton would be exclusively used.

The Chehalis valley camp meeting will be held, near Montesano, Chehalis county, W. T., commencing on Friday, June 22d, and continuing over two Sundays.

Three children, comprising the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Skagit City, died early in the present month from scarlet fever. The eldest was six years and the youngest 1 year old.

Kinney, Morris and Sargent, of Dayton, are paying 66 cents for wheat. They have purchased 12,000 bushels and expect to make 250 barrels of flour per day. The 4000 wheel was placed in position last week and they will soon be grinding.

The large logging camp of Amos Brown, three miles northeast of Olympia, was sold this week to L. C. Ellis and the Port Blakely Mill Co. The camp is running about fifty men, and uses a railway which employs a dozen horses and mules and forty oxen. It comprises several hundred acres of very fine timber lands, which will take the new owners several years to log. It is said the price paid was $20,000.

Some two weeks ago John Donaca and James Putman, of Sweet Home, Linn county, got into a little difficulty. From words they got it to blows, and in the fight in some way or other Putman got hold of Donaca's little finger on his left hand and bit it so that it a few days ago had to be amputated in order to save his life. A warrant of arrest has been sworn out and Putman will be tried for mayhem before Justice Smith of Lebanon.

Southern Oregon.

There will be a triweekly mail between Myrtle Point and Bandon, Coos county, after July 1st.

The flat-bottomed schooner, being built at Parkersburg, will have a carrying capacity of 250,000 feet of lumber.

The town of Coquille overlooks an area of 3500 acres of the finest bottom land in the state, upon which there is a growth of myrtle and maple timber of the best quality.

The sands at the mouth of the Coquille river have again shifted, so that they now have seven channels there. The best one is between the south rocks and the black rock, where there is nine feet of water. Public sentiment on the river is still strongly in favor of filling in between the south rocks and making a wall there that will keep the channel to the north of them at all times and under all circumstances, which proposition seems entirely correct.

D. Morse, Jr., of Empire City, received lately from the east a curiosity in the shape of a folding canvas boat for hunting and fishing excursions. The frames are of hardwood and covered with water-proof canvas, and it is so arranged that it can be folded into a small bundle and carried on the back, which makes it convenient for navigating small streams through the woods. The boat is about 12 feet long, and with oars, seat and all accoutrements weighs about fifty pounds. It is remarkably stout for so small a craft, will carry two or three persons and is a neat looking boat.

SATURDAY'S LOCAL NEWS.

(Condensed from The Sunday Oregonian.)

Real estate transactions for the week were $107,[illegible].

W. J. Stephens, the Fort Wrangel merchant charged with introducing liquor into Alaska territory, pleaded guilty in the U. S. circuit court Saturday and was fined $300 by Judge Deady. The charge of selling liquor to Indians was, upon motion of District Attorney Watson, dismissed. C. A. Price, charged with this offense, pleaded guilty and was fined $150.

Saturday two barges were hauled alongside the steamer Yaquina, and with the assistance of the A. A. McCully, the burned steamship was raised 18 inches. Work will be continued this week. Everything above the deck is burned, but the hull seems to be sound. How much the machinery is damaged, or whether it is ruined, cannot yet be learned. Should the hull prove sound, the owners will immediately rebuild. It has been learned that fifty barrels of lime were put into the vessel from the Eureka kiln. This no doubt caused the fire.

Following are additional particulars of Friday night's fire: Ainsworth & Thompson, Eagle Hotel, loss fully $17,000; insured for $9,000 in New Zealand, who reinsured two-thirds. It is not likely that the hotel will be rebuilt. Ainslie & Co. and $2000 on the mill and machinery and $1500 on the Third street store. Very little stock was saved from the store. Their loss above insurance will not be less than $5,000. The firm has lost by fire within three years more than $35,000, not including consequential damage by loss of contracts. They will rebuild this summer, but not upon the present location. Wm. Druck's loss is between $700 and $800; no insurance. Slaughter & Wiggins had just started an [illegible] factory over Druck's establishment, and lose about $200, no insurance. Martin & Smith had a stair building shop on Third street, adjoining Ainslie & Co.'s brick. They lost $550; insured for $500. Adolph Nicolai was sole owner of the east half of the three story brick on E street, built by Chas. Cardinell. His loss will be nearly $900; insured for $1000 in the New Zealand, $500 in the State Investment, and $200 in the Western.

About half past 5 o'clock Saturday evening a sail boat capsized on the Willamette just above the wreck of the Yaquina, and its occupants, two men and two boys, were precipitated into the water. The accident was witnessed by the men engaged in raising the Yaquina, and Mr. S. W. Taylor at once put off in a boat and pulled for the struggling men. One of the men and the two boys succeeded in clambering upon the bottom of the capsized boat, but the other man, Norman J. Wilson, started to swim for the shore. He had not gone far when he evidently began to distrust his powers of endurance, and turned back to the boat. Mr. Taylor, noticing this, shouted to the man to swim toward him, which he started to do but sank almost immediately. He rose, and sank, and rose again, this time struggling hard to keep above the waves. Mr. Taylor shouted encouragingly to him and it seemed as though the boat would surely arrive in time. When only a boat's length lay between the swimmer and his rescuer, the unfortunate swimmer sank for the third and last time.

Mr. Wilson was a civil engineer in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co., and had been connected with the company since the summer of 1880. He was a young man of excellent character and the strictest integrity, and was held in the highest confidence and esteem by the chief of his department. He leaves at Santa Cruz, California, a widowed mother and a sister, and he was their only support. The body was recovered six hours after the accident.

SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. CZAPKAY.—About 5 o'clock Saturday morning Dr. L. J. Czapkay, formerly of San Francisco, was found dead in his bed at the Clarendon hotel. He retired about 2 o'clock, after having smoked a cigar in company with Dr. Bland De Bury, who occupied the same room. At the time first mentioned, De Bury spoke to his companion several times, but received no answer. Becoming alarmed, he went to the bedside and found Dr. Czapkay cold in death. The deceased was between 55 and 60 years old, and had been on this coast for over 30 years. He arrived here by the State of California May 16th, and stopped at the Clarendon. He was taken ill several days ago, and was attended by Drs. R. B. Wilson and J. T. Ghiselin, who found him to be suffering from fatty degeneration of the heart. He was ordered by his physicians to avoid excitement of any kind, and the theory has been advanced that Friday night's fire on the adjoining block hastened his death. He came to this city with a view of resuming the practice of medicine. Dr. Czapkay was prominent in the Masonic fraternity, who took charge of the remains.

NEWS OF SATURDAY.

(From the Sunday Oregonian.)

Fast Mail Service.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Postmaster General Howe, now here, says the money to expedite mails, especially appropriated by congress, will probably be used to increase speed. He is here to hasten the fast train between New York and San Francisco.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Officials of the Illinois Central, Rock Island & Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul Railroads, and postal officers held a conference last evening with Postmaster-General Howe on the subject of fast mail. The general drift of the talk was in the direction of the train between New York and Chicago in 24 hours, Chicago and Omaha 14 hours and other points in proportion, making a saving of time in the hours between New York and points named as follows: Chicago 8 hours, Omaha 21, Cheyenne 29, Denver 32, Salt Lake 29 and San Francisco 29. The train between New York and Chicago is to be exclusively a mail train and those further west are to carry passengers.

The Sad Effect of Love.

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—Prof. A. F. Dadhman, formerly a teacher in the public schools, grew rich in Nebraska speculation and returned to St. Louis for a wife. He made love to a chambermaid of the hotel, and was finally accepted after a lot of ridiculous extravagances. He was married, and the next day his wife disappeared. The professor grew very agitated, and got himself into all sorts of trouble on street cars and elsewhere by accosting several ladies; and was sent to the insane asylum, where he died to-day. A post mortem examination showed softening of the brain.

Chicago Board of Trade Rules.

CHICAGO, May 27.—The board of trade has voted to adjourn Monday and Tuesday on account of Decoration services. The arbitration committee yesterday brought in a report fixing the settling prices of April wheat contracts at $1 31. It was believed that they would fix the price at $1 41, and bears and anti-corner men are much pleased at the verdict. In this particular case the result will not have much money value for either side, as most of the shorts had settled at $1 41, but it is considered a precedent for the future.

Scientific Researches in the North.

NEW YORK, May 27.—A Herald's Washington special says: Lieut. Powell left here to-day for San Francisco, where he sails for the United States signal service station at Point Barrow. Two competent men from the signal service bureau will accompany him. In order to reach Point Barrow, Lieut. Powell will have to leave San Francisco about the 1st of June.

It requires two months for a sailing vessel to make the voyage up there. As the government has not supplied a steamer he has to rely upon a sailing vessel and unless she can get away at that time the passage will be closed by ice before the ship reaches within anything like communicating distance with the station. No arrangements have been made for relief of the party at Lady Franklin bay. To-morrow Wm. M. Turner who, with Mr. Nelson, made meteorological and other scientific observations in Alaska, leaves for Ungava bay. He is sent out by the Smithsonian institution and signal bureau and is expected to remain in the northern region two or three years, during which time he is to make meteorological observations and learn all that is possible concerning the mineral, vegetable and animal resources of that region. Turner goes from here direct to Montreal, when he will take a Hudson bay steamer for Rigoulette on the northeast coast of Labrador. There he will connect with the Hudson Bay Co's steamer coming from England and go on her to Ungava bay. His headquarters will be one of the Hudson Bay Co's stations or posts, which is in latitude 60 deg.

Fire at Spring Lake, Michigan.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., May 27.—Mason & Lillie's mill yard at Spring Lake burned yesterday and the lumber and mill were nearly consumed. There were 7,000,000 feet of lumber, valued at $100,000, owned by Kelly, Rathbun & Co. of Chicago; insured for a total of $[illegible]. This firm lost 9,000,000 feet here last fall.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Presbyterian Assembly Matters.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., May 25.—In the general assembly this morning, the action by which the majority and minority reports on home missions was referred to the special committee, was reconsidered, and reports sent to the standing committee. The report of the board of education occupied considerable time and created the most interesting feature of the session. During the morning a dispatch was received from the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, now in session at Atlanta, Ga., as follows: "In order to remove all difficulties in the way of that full and formal fraternal correspondence which on our part we are prepared to accept, we adopt the following minute, to wit:

"That while receding from no principle, we do hereby declare our regret for, and withdrawal of all expression of our assembly, which may be regarded as reflecting upon or offensive to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, and

"Resolved, That a copy of this paper be sent to the general assembly now in session at Springfield, Ills., for their prayerful consideration, and mutatis mutandis for their reciprocal concurrence as affording a basis for the exchange of delegates forthwith.

R. K. SMOOT, Moderator,
JAS. R. WILSON, Clerk.

This was received with great delight and referred to the committee on correspondence, and it is understood will elicit a most cordial response.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., May 27.—The general assembly has received from the Atlanta body the following: "If the action of your assembly telegraphed by your moderator, does not modify concurrent resolutions adopted by your assembly and ours, we are prepared to send delegates forthwith."

The following answer was sent: "The action referred to does not modify, but explains the concurrent resolution, and the explanation is on the face of the action. There is nothing behind or between the lines. The dissolution of our assembly is near at hand and we may be ready for its final adjournment this evening. An exchange of delegates is impossible for Tuesday. Shall we not each appoint delegates this day to visit the respective assemblies next year. We wait your answer with deep and prayerful interest."

The general assembly this afternoon heard and adopted the report of a committee on the Sabbath. It is very strongly in favor of abolishing Sunday newspapers, Sunday trains, and other Sunday violations. The committee's report was also adopted deprecating and strongly protesting against allowing worldly or skeptical ideas to creep into theological seminaries and become instilled in the minds of students. The assembly late in the afternoon visited Lincoln's tomb and there held impressive services. The assembly at its session this evening received the following:

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—It was unanimously resolved, first, that the assembly does hereby declare its entire satisfaction with the full and explicit terms in which the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America has expressed its reciprocal concurrence in the paper telegraphed to our assembly on special correspondence; second, that we do unanimously rejoice and render thanksgiving to God for an event suited to take away the reproach of alienation between bodies holding the same standard of faith and order; and the tendency to bring peace to our borders; third, that inasmuch as it is impracticable at this late day to have an interchange of delegates, this assembly does hereby appoint the following to your assembly: (Here follow names of delegates.)

The assembly here to-night elected delegates to attend the next assembly in the south.

Baptists in Council.

NEW YORK, May 25.—At to-day's session of the American Baptist home missionary society's jubilee meeting the committee on Chinese missions presented a report which was adopted, taking grounds against the Chinese bill. Rev. G. W. Lasher presented a report recommending the society to expend $100,000 in missionary work among the foreign population of this country. At the evening's session Rev. W. Lawrence, of Illinois, and Rev. F. H. Henson, of Chicago, made addresses. Henson, speaking of the Chinese question, said it was one that affected civilization and no embargo from Washington could prevent immigration through the Golden Gate. The ten years bill was a failure. He had no faith in congress and no faith in common schools unless their teachings were impregnated with christian principles. To educate man's brain, he said, was to put a rifle in the hands of a Modoc. He had no faith in newspapers and sometimes thought all newspapers except religious ones should be suppressed.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Pennsylvania Situation.

Republican members of the Pennsylvania delegation in congress regard with apprehension the action of the Philadelphia independent convention yesterday. The nominations are conceded to be of a good character and likely to command the support of many republican voters, while there is a general feeling that democrats have a chance to capture the state. The chief topic of speculation, of course, is what effect the split will have in congressional elections. None of the delegates know whether independent candidates for congress will be nominated in districts now represented by machine members or not. One of the members to the independent convention said to-day there is a feeling on the part of independents west of the Alleghanies to run independent candidates for congress. At the same time members understand that the issues which caused the split on the straight ticket will be felt to a greater or less degree in the congressional campaign whether nominations are made or not. There are few close districts in the state now represented by republicans.

Washington Notes.

Postmaster General Howe wanted the room occupied by Mr. Ela, sixth auditor of the treasury, but Ela refused to budge. Last night in his absence a gang of men set to work and removed his effects to the top floor of the postoffice building.

The sub-committee of the appropriations committee has agreed to report favorably on the section of the army bill providing for the compulsory retirement of officers arrived at the age of 62. Gen. Sherman, who was at first in favor of the proposition, has since opposed it. Gen. Sherman will be retired on full pay if the report is adopted by congress.

UTAH.

A Murderous Argonaut.

SALT LAKE, May 27.—A terrible tragedy occurred at John Smyth's ranch on the Utah Central road, near Milford, Thursday afternoon. Smyth being crazed with whisky shot his wife in the back with a double barrelled shot gun and then shot himself. Smyth came from California to Utah and was a '49er.

Snow Slide in Utah.

SALT LAKE, May 27.—Yesterday afternoon a snow slide occurred in Big Cottonwood canyon, at the Richmond mine, which carried Richard Graves, lessee of the mine, a distance of 450 feet down the mountain, and buried him in a drift seventy feet deep. Thirty men have been engaged for the past 24 hours in endeavoring to recover the remains, but so far have been unsuccessful. It is presumed it can't be recovered till the snow is melted by the sun. The cabin was also crushed by the same slide and a son of Graves buried, but was recovered in time by miners to save his life.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

VICTORIA, May 27.—Bush fires are raging both on the mainland and island, and much damage has been done to forests and farms. New Westminster, Emory City and Nanaimo have been in great peril, but the danger is now over.

Ship Niagara has got her complement of men this forenoon at $60 for the trip to Wilmington, or $40 to San Francisco.

Yesterday the customs officers seized a diamond ring valued at from $1200 to $1500, and a gold watch, chain and locket valued at $800, from the person of Henry Hulbron, a recent arrival in the province. The loser says he wore the articles at the time, and that the ring was taken from his finger, and the other articles from his vest. He is a diamond broker.

CARRIE BRADLEY'S TRIAL.

The Defense Create a Sensation by Moving to Discharge their Client, by Reason of No Convicting Evidence.

Fifth Day—Morning Session.

Immediately after the opening of the court, and before the defense had produced a word of testimony they moved that their client be discharged on the ground of insufficient evidence to convict any of the crime. The move was a bold one, and has been known to succeed, but it fails this time. Witnesses were then called and examined, interspersed with legal sparring by the opposing counsel. Some great jury testimony was taken, which will be resumed on Monday.

The Proceedings.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE DEFENDANT.

Mr. Beebe, of counsel for the defense, made a motion that the court direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty and that an order be made discharging the defendant for the reason that there is no evidence of the commission of the crime charged except the testimony of accomplices; that there is no evidence that tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the crime; also that there is no evidence corroborative of the testimony of the accomplices who have testified in this action. Mr. Beebe then made an argument upon the motion. He first quoted the statutes which provide that conviction cannot be had upon the testimony of accomplices alone. The evidence of an accomplice is competent but not sufficient unless corroborated by testimony outside of accomplices. Mr. Beebe quoted a number of authorities and cases under similar statutes. He reviewed some of the testimony in point in this case.

Mr. Mason was proceeding to address the court on the motion when the court asked counsel what he would do with the testimony of Lavin, Nisonger, and the Professor?

Mr. Mason said he would take up the case of each in their order and dispose of them to the satisfaction of the court. He was going on to show that Lavin knew nothing of the crime itself. He says something about the confession of a crime by defendant, but mentions no name of the man who was killed. Confessions do not present corroborative testimony under our statutes.

The court denied the proposition that confessions cannot be taken as corroborative.

Mr. Mason then took up the testimony of Ace Nisonger and proceeded to show that he was an accomplice by procuring the chloroform. The testimony of Ace and the professor of music was further reviewed to show that it did not prove perpetration of the crime.

Mr. Howes presented authorities on legal points raised in the motion and made a lengthy argument on the same.

Mr. Caples, for the state, was about to reply to the arguments presented when the court stated there was no need of an argument in reply, as the court overruled the motion.

JOSEPH E. THOMAS

Was called by the defence and examined by Mr. Beebe: I am a druggist; am employed at Blumauer's store; my prescription book shows that on the 24th of August last Dolly Adams purchased morphine of me. She appeared to be excited, and I refused to sell her the morphine without a physician's prescription. She afterwards came with a prescription and I sold her the bottle of morphine. She came once or twice afterwards and purchased morphine.

RICHARD BIRD.

Examined by Mr. Mason: I have lived in Portland 21 years; know Dolly Adams; her reputation for truth and veracity is not good; know Mollie Thompson; her reputation for truth and veracity is not good. I have known Carrie Bradley ever since she has been in the city.

The question as to character or reputation for kindness of disposition, was objected to, and there was a long discussion, and the quotation of law and decisions.

The court ruled out the question. Her reputation in the community for peaceableness, quietness and tenderness of heart is good.

Cross-examined by Mr. Caples: Never heard any one say particularly as to her reputation. Never inquired into her reputation.

Afternoon Session.

L. BLUMAUER

Called for the defence—Examined by Mr. Beebe: I am a druggist in this city; was in that business last October; had two drug stores at that time; poisons were put up by either the head clerk or myself in the store on First street, between Morrison and Yamhill; do not know Dolly Adams.

WILLIAM DOTY

Examined by Mr. Beebe: Was head clerk in Blumauer's drug store last October; know Dolly Adams; that is, she was pointed out to me as Dolly Adams; have never sold her morphine; my custom was to question parties closely who applied for morphine.

Cross-examined by Mr. Caples: It is not an unusual thing for persons of that class to use morphine.

JOSEPH TAYLOR,

Examined by Mr. Beebe: I am slightly acquainted with Dolly Adams. I have always heard that her general reputation for truth and veracity is bad. I know Mollie Flippen. I regard her reputation for truth and veracity as equally bad. I have known defendant for about three years. I regard her general reputation as good. I know D. D. Lavin. First got acquainted with him just after his return from California. He was in my saloon in the presence of Mr. Franklin, Tom Williams and Al. Richter. Lavin said that he had "slept with Carrie Bradley, and did not believe she had anything to do with the murder of Mr. Brown, for if she had she would have told me."

CHAUNCE DALE

Examined by Mr. Beebe: I live in this city; know Dolly Adams; her general reputation for truth and veracity is bad; I can't say what is the general reputation of Mollie Flippen; know Carrie Bradley; her general reputation for peace and kindness is good.

JAMES FAGAN.

Examined by Mr. Mason: Know Carrie Bradley; her reputation for kindness and peacefulness is very good; know D. D. Lavin; Lavin made a remark to me in San Francisco that he did not believe one word of Sullivan's confession.

Cross-examination: Am proprietor of the Elite theatre and saloon; Lavin asked me about the case; asked if there was any talk about him; told him I didn't know; said that he didn't believe that Bradley was connected with it; didn't say that he was intimate with her; asked me to go up to the jail and see her.

AH SAM.

By Ah John, interpreter, sworn, testified: Work for Miss Bradley last fall; cook by her; saw a painter there between the 28th of October and November 1st; it was over 8 o'clock; he bring in piece of paper; come to see her; in morning by 8 o'clock; tell me to show him to parlor; door between Carrie's bedroom and parlor closed; saw her in there; Dollie was there; just with nightgown on.

D. F. HARRINGTON,

Sworn, testified: Am a liquor dealer; have been 11 years in Portland; know Dollie Adams; her general reputation for truth and veracity since this matter came up has been brought into question; don't know that I have heard more than a dozen people speak about her; among the people I know who know her, fifty or sixty people, I have not heard more than six or eight express an opinion in respect to her reputation for truth and veracity; don't think I know, from what I have heard, what her reputation is.

G. MITCHELL,

Sworn, testified: Know Carrie Bradley; have known her from four to five years. I keep a grocery store; she always acted like a lady to me; know Dollie Adams; her reputation is not very good; bad enough; I know enough about her; don't know that girl Flippen.

EDWARD FARLEY,

Sworn, testified: Know Miss Bradley; her reputation for peace and kindness is good; Dollie Adams' character for truth and veracity I have heard spoken of by a few persons in the saloon where I work, that is all; have heard men say they would not believe her under oath.

JAMES FRANKLIN,

Sworn, testified: Know Lavin; have known him eight or ten months; heard Lavin say he had been sleeping with Carrie and he didn't believe she had done this crime.

Cross-examination: Lavin was talking to Taylor; I didn't pay much attention to what he said.

THOMAS WILLIAMS,

Sworn, testified: Reside on Washington street; know Lavin; Lavin did say in my presence that he didn't believe Carrie Bradley had anything to do with this crime.

"PROF." JULIUS HALBGUTH,

Sworn, testified: Know Mollie Flippen; know Carrie Bradley, too; know something about her going away. I was playing piano at some place when Miss Carrie Bradley sold out; playing for Mollie Flippen; about two days after Carrie Bradley left Portland I had a conversation with Mollie Flippen about Carrie Bradley:

Mr. Caples: "What time was that? Did he fix the time?"

Mr. Watson: "The counsel can learn that in cross-examination."

The witness (rising): "Joodge Cables, I vos here to gif mine evidence—"

The court: "Sit down!"

The witness (sitting down): "Vell, vat's next?"

The defense: "Take the witness."

Mr. Caples: "You say you were playing the piano, playing lively tunes, I suppose, making lots of noise?"

The witness: "I tell you vat I can do, Joodge Cables, I ken blay der piano und read der noospaper und geep mine ears open—"

Mr. Caples: "And whistle at the same time? That's all."

The witness: "I vas glad auf it. Der vas too mooch law about me."

ENOCH TURNER.

Sworn, testified: Was a member of the grand jury that found the indictment against this defendant; Dollie Adams was examined before us; Mollie Flippen also; Dollie Adams did not say before the grand jury that Carrie Bradley hit Brown in the face with brass knuckles; she did say that Carrie got a pair of brass knuckles and hit the body.

Here ensued another long discussion, pending which the witness was excused, and after it was closed he was again wanted and could not be found. Two or three other witnesses were called but did not answer, and an adjournment was finally granted to allow the stenographer to prepare the impeaching questions which had been asked Dolly Adams. Adjourned until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Notes of the Trial.

The Chinamen were also productive of much amusement.

The defendant has a careworn look when her face is in repose.

Bradley laughed heartily when the "Prof." was on the witness stand.

The piano-player's testimony should have been heard to be appreciated.

The court accorded permission to the jury to attend the theater last evening.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, May 26.

House.

Representative Belford, of Colorado, rose to a point of order and remarked he did not wish to be understood as favoring acceptance of the proposition, and proceeded to reprimand the minority for its action in the pending case, whereupon the speaker called him to order, informing him at the same time that unless he took his seat the sergeant-at-arms would be called upon to do his duty. Belford, in response, said he would take his seat at command of the speaker, but he desired to repel any intimation that he was proceeding in violation of any laws of the house.

A stormy scene ensued on the republican side and many members disapproved of [illegible] of the resolution or of any proposal in looking to a compromise. Scores of members were talking at once and the speaker's gavel was in constant use. Finally, after about fifteen minutes of confusion the house adjourned and republicans went into caucus.

The bill for removal of obstructions to free navigation in the United States requiring bridge corporations to erect sheer booms, etc., to aid boats to pass without striking piers, was passed.

About 4 o'clock further proceedings under call were dispensed with. Dunn introduced through the petition box a joint resolution appropriating $100,000 for relief of destitute sufferers by the recent overflow of the Mississippi and tributaries. Referred. The joint resolution was accompanied by a letter from Governor Maginnis of Arkansas, under date of May 24, stating the present overflow is in many respects much more disastrous than in February and March last, and unless congress comes to the aid of destitute persons in the overflowed sections starvation is imminent.

House then adjourned.

Senate.

In the senate to-day, Butler said that immediately upon disposal of the Japanese indemnity bill, he would urge the action upon the bill for a territorial government for southeastern Alaska, and showing the urgency of prompt action he sent to the clerk's desk and had read sundry communications showing [illegible] of that section.

General Crop Reports.

CHICAGO, May 27.—A local commission firm has concluded a report of crops in the northwest received from twenty correspondents. The points are as follows: Forty-eight per cent. more wheat acreage has been sown than last year, none is killed and no bugs. Harvest is promising and a large yield is expected. Corn and oats have 25 per cent. larger acreage than in 1881 and look well. Kentucky has 25 per cent. more wheat planted than in 1881, none is killed and no bugs. A little frost did some damage. Missouri has about the same acreage as last year and good quantities of chinch bugs in some localities have done no material damage. Prospects are very fine. Corn is all planted and has 20 per cent. greater acreage. No old corn is on hand. Oats have the same acreage but will return only an ordinary yield. Maryland shows slight increase in winter wheat above average. The crop looks promising. Some little winter wheat was killed. Ten per cent. of old wheat is on hand. The corn acreage is unchanged and oats 15 per cent. less and looks poorly. In Ohio the wheat acreage is the same or a trifle larger; perhaps 10 per cent. of the winter killed. No bugs there and crop looks well, except where flooded. Acreage of corn and oats is unchanged. Little old grain is on hand. In Indiana the acreage is somewhat increased. A little winter was killed and a few bugs seen, but the plant looks well. Little old wheat on hand. Corn is about all planted. Acreage is unchanged and none left. In Michigan the acreage has been increased 10 per cent., none killed and no bugs. Ten per cent. of old wheat is on hand. Corn has the same acreage as in 1881, but none for shipment. Oats look well. In Illinois winter wheat has the same acreage or a trifle larger. Bugs appeared but are harmless. Worms have only stripped the leaves and plants look well, and promise 17 to 20 bushels per acre. Corn is most all planted except in the northern part. Acreage is the same or a little larger in the south. Central Illinois has about 40 per cent. for shipment. Oats acreage is 15 to 20 per cent. increase, with a fair amount for shipment, and looks well. In Kansas winter wheat acreage is about the same and spring less. Both look well. Harvest will begin about the 10th. Corn is all planted and acreage 20 per cent. larger. The oats acreage is increased. Little grain of any kind is left over. In Nebraska not much winter wheat is raised and none killed. Acreage is larger than in 1881, and bugs scarce. Spring wheat is about the same as last year. The plant looks as well as last year. Corn is all planted and a little must be replanted. Acreage increase is 25 per cent. Oats acreage is larger and crop splendid. Iowa has 15 per cent. less acreage of wheat, but it looks well. Little remains on hand. The corn acreage is 15 per cent. larger and not all planted. About 25 per cent. is on hand. The acreage of oats shows 10 per cent. increase and looks well. Little remains on hand. Minnesota in the southern and southwestern parts has 20 per cent. less acreage; in the central and eastern no larger, and possibly less acreage than in 1881; and in the northern portion 25 per cent. more, mostly in new land. All looks well though the season is backward. Of corn 25 per cent. more will be planted and the acreage of oats will probably be larger. Both depend on the weather. In Dakota the acreage of wheat is 25 per cent. greater. About half the crop was in ten days ahead of the usual time. Rains delayed the balance, but all will be in by the 25th in good condition. Prospects are more favorable than last year at this time. In Wisconsin there is 15 per cent. larger acreage of winter wheat. None was killed, no bugs and all looks well. Spring shows a smaller acreage and looks favorable. Corn and oats show 10 per cent. larger acreage. Cold and frost in the northwest part a few days ago will not materially affect the situation.

CHICO, May 25.—The last week has been extremely favorable to growing crops, and fields that were considered only good for hay a week ago may now, with favorable weather, produce half a crop.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 27.—Crop reports indicate improved conditions. Most complaint is caused by late frosts. Fruits, wheat and cotton are showing the effects of the late bright weather.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 27.—Weather continues cold with constant clouds and rain. The corn crop is suffering but fruits are fine though limited in quantity. On account of the newness of the country grains are unharmed by chinch bugs or other causes.

ST. PAUL, May 27.—Weather is clear and cool. Wheat seeding is completed except in the extreme north. Grain looks well and prospects are unusually good so far. Corn planting is going on rapidly.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The freight market via Cape Horn continues to drag slowly along, but perhaps not more so than any other branch of the shipping trade. The M. P. Grace has completed her cargo. From present outlook there will be no further departures this month. Rates remain steady and are likely to do so until the present high cost ships are got off, when, unless there should be more doing, there will undoubtedly be a break. Tonnage is plenty and in light demand, both lines being well supplied. Isthmus freights are extremely quiet. Railroad freights are fairly active, although there are no very large lots going forward; still in the aggregate shipments are quite respectable. There is considerable comment in the market over the recent advance in tariff rates on certain classes of hardware and agricultural goods by the Pacific roads. It is understood to have been done in order to coerce certain parties into making contracts. It is rumored that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and Texas Pacific roads will not be bound by this action of the Central and Union Pacific roads, but will continue to accept old rates of freight.

Freights at Boston are moderately active, and the North American is doing fairly. Railroad freights there are also fairly active, with shipments of 650 cases canned goods, 410 packages fish, and 13 cases figs.

Freights at Philadelphia are moderately active, and the Richard P. Buck is well advanced in loading.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, May 27.—Wool market is steady and firm, with fair demand, and sales of the week about two million pounds of all kinds. There has been considerable doing in fine wools, including fine Texas, fine Ohio and Pennsylvania, and fine Montevideo and Magdelena. Prices take a wide range as usual, at close of the season, and more or less heavy wool remains on hand to be disposed of. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania have been at 41@44 for X and XX, and choice lots of X and XX are firm at 43@44. Michigan and Wisconsin X fleeces sold at 38½@39, but lots are on the market that are fully up in condition. New Texas has been in demand and choice lots been sold at 33 and above. Unwashed fleeces have been selling at 25@32 for fine and medium, and selected of the latter at higher prices. California wool has been quiet, but not much new has yet been received. Sales have been 50,000 pounds of new at 26, and 7000 pounds fall at 18½@20. Combing and delaine selections are quiet at 45@48 for fine delaine and fine and No. 1 combing. Unwashed combing is dull and prices nominal. Pulled wools are in demand and have been selling at 32@38 for common and choice supers. Extra pulled is selling more freely at 38@4[illegible], as to quality. Foreign wool is in fair demand at 43½@45¼ for Australian, 35@38 for Montevideo, 34 for Magdelena and 35 for Cape. Carpet wools are scarce and quiet, and very little has been done.
